State Fair Grounds Hum With Activity

Sunday Marks Start Of Nebraska's 70th Annual Exposition; Many Concessions

The state fair grounds mushroomed into activity Saturday as final preparations were made for the opening Sunday of the seventieth annual Nebraska exposition.

Even with the expectations of fair officials discounted to allow for professional enthusiasm, the 1938 fair promises to be a good show. The grounds, generally, are in better shape than last year, and the agricultural exhibits are larger and improved.

Following custom, the opening day is dedicated to war veterans. Perry Reed, secretary of the state fair board, said he looks for a gate in excess of last year. That would call for more than 10,000 paid admissions.

Though there were plenty of people on the grounds Saturday, the space allotted to the carnival midway attractions still remained vacant. The show, Reed said, will come in during the night and be ready to start full-swing Sunday. It is the same company—Beckmann and Gerety—that appeared last year.

Lack of Space.

Lack of available stall space was causing some concern to livestock handlers, particularly those of horses. Late arrivals in the draft horse division were being turned away for lack of room. That situation results in part, fair officials said, from the increased number of horses here this year for the race meet and the horse show scheduled daily at 2:30 p. m. and 8 p. m. in the coliseum.

Many Veterans.

There will be more veterans and veterans' organizations participating in the opening day program than there were last year, according to Nate Grossman, general veterans' chairman. Competing for cash awards will be 29 drum corps and six bands. Last year there were 12 corps and three bands.

A last minute addition was made to the grandstand program to assure visitors of "something doing every minute." Between auto races, arrangements have been made to have two bicycle heats as an added attraction.

Headlining the afternoon speakers' program Sunday will be Governor Cochran and Maj. Gen. Stanley H. Ford of Omaha, commander of the seventh corps area. Their addresses will follow the veterans' parade.

"White Spot" Apple Map.

Visitors to agricultural hall will find exhibits of farm products from 19 counties—two mre than last year. Hall and Merrick counties are the new additions. E. P. Noyes, superintendent of farm products, said more requests for space were made this year than could be filled. Judging of the county exhibits will begin Monday. A total of $3,000 in prizes for county collective exhibits is being offered.

In agricultural hall, too, is the annual apple display of the Nebraska State Horticultural society prepared by the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. The display depicts a map of the United States, made of apples, and shows Nebraska as the white spot.

"Brownie."

The dog and cat show, housed at the north end of the agricultural building, gave promise of being as interesting as ever. At least, it will be to one showman, Norman Case, 9, who lives at 3224 North Forty-eighth street. Proudly he displays his pup, "Brownie."

"Well," he confessed, "it's a cross between a Pekinese and a Boston bull. Everybody in our neighborhood likes him and so I thought maybe I could win a ribbon or something with him."

Mrs. Lorena Hoagland, manager of the show, said one of the unusual entries this year is a Staffordshire terrier, imported

Crowds At Iowa Fair Only 5,000 Short of Record

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 3—(AP)—Financially successful, the 1938 Iowa State fair passed into history today after attracting the second largest crowd in state fair history.

Total attendance at the 10-day exposition was 430,664, only about 5,000 short of the all-time attendance record of 435,385 set in 1929.

YOUTH SPEECHLESS 2 YEARS SUDDENLY FINDS HIS VOICE

IOWA CITY, Ia., Sept. 3—(AP)—For two years Maurice Arcoren was speechless.

Then, one day recently a psychologist inquired:

"How do you feel, Maurice?"

"All right," came the reply.

The 20-year old Sioux Indian youth credited his faith in religion, saying:

"Only by cooperating with God did I ever get it back."

Specialists in charge of the speech clinic, where he had been undergoing treatment for 10 weeks, said, however, they believed part of the explanation lay in the fact that he was "shocked" into talking. They expressed the opinion fear of being sent home unimproved caused him to resume talking.

Maurice, whose home is at Rosebud, S. D., had been a stutterer since early childhood and had gradually given up talking altogether, resorting to signs and writing.

Australian Is Swamped 3 Sets To 1 In Opening Davis Cup Round

GERMANTOWN, Pa., Sept. 3—(AP)—Scrapping Bobby Riggs of California sent the defending American tennis team off in front here today by defeating Adrian Quist of Australia, 4-6, 6-0, 8-6, 6-1, in the opening singles match of the Davis cup challenge round.

He swamped Quist in 14 minutes flat in the final set.

Lab Breslow, Retired Grain Dealer, Dies

Lab Breslow, 62, retired grain dealer and resident of Lincoln 34 years, died at 7 o'clock Saturday morning at his home, 2283 Sheldon street. Mr. Breslow was born in Russia and came to this country, directly to Lincoln in 1904. He entered the grain business in 1914, operating the Breslow Grain company, from which he retired in 1930.

A member of the Tifereth Israel synagogue, Mr. Breslow is survived by his wife, Ida; four sons, Jake, David, and Harry, all of Lincoln, and Max of Omaha; a daughter, Jean, of Chicago; a brother, Louie of Portland, Ore.; and four sisters, three of them in Russia.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Wadlow's chapel, with Rabbi Harry Jolt officiating. Burial in B'nai Jehuda cemetery.

Corrigan Arrives At National Air Races

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, Cleveland, O., Sept. 3—(INS)—Douglas Corigan, the "wrong way" ocean jumper, arrived at the national air races today and just to preserve the record he established when he landed in Ireland unknown and unrecognized, he managed to "sneak in" this afternoon without any of the thousands in the stands realizing his identity.

Two Rivers Wedding

TWO RIVERS, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—The first wedding on the federal farmstead project here took place this morning. Maxine Lockwood of Waterloo married Lew Jansa, jr. A dance in their honor will be held tonight. The couple will live on the project with the bridegroom's parents.

Three Injured As Army Plane Strikes House

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Sept. 3—(AP)—An army pursuit plane from Langley field, Va., crashed into a three-room house near here today and injured three of the eight occupants.

Fog and rain forced down 12 pursuit planes in this vicinity, including the one which struck the house.

Six-year-old Fred Lee Ganns was the most seriously injured when the plane plummeted through the roof of Harry B. Gann's house. Some of the household members were in bed.

The three occupants of the wrecked plane, which was flying from Langley field to Montgomery, Ala., bailed out before the crash and were reported not hurt. The names on the wrecked plane's occupants were Com. L. P. Beverly, Aerial Gunner C. S. Downer and C. L. Guyer. They left the scene before reporters arrived.

Heavy Rains In West Continue; Flood Unlikely

Republican Valley Fears Subside Although Many Points Drenched

Fears of major damage from flood waters of the Arickaree and Republican rivers in southwestern Nebraska subsided Saturday, despite continued rainfall in that area during the morning which brought the 48 hour total to over two inches at some points.

The Arickaree was still running bank full at Haigler where it joins the Republican river. Observers said the Republican was about half full Saturday morning. Ordinarily at this time of the year the streams are little more than sandy stream beds.

Highway and train travel was unimpeded, and no damage to property was reported.

Heavy In Panhandle.

In the panhandle, however, heavy rains were causing some concern to highway engineers. No. 26 between Broadwater and Oshkosh was closed because of water. Travel was being routed over Nos. 19, 27 and 30. A detour north of Dalton was also closed.

Meanwhile the east section of the state enjoyed autumnal coolness in the wake of gentle rains which came down steadily Friday. During the last 24 hours Lincoln's moisture total was .20 and the mercury dipped to a low of 62 degrees during the night.

Other rains in this area reported by the Lincoln Telephone company:

Beatrice	.22	Hastings	.50
Auburn	.13	Clay Center	.55
Fairbury	.75	Fairmont	.20
Humboldt	.17	Geneva	.25

Other Totals.

Nearly the whole western end of the state was receiving rain Saturday morning. Some moisture totals during the past 24 hours were: Alliance .86, Bridgeport 1.84, Broken Bow .75, Burwell .19, Culbertson .19, Holdrege .38, North Platte and Sidney 1.47, and Red Cloud 2.00. Scottsbluff had 2.28 during the past 48 hours, and Kearney reported 1.02 in the past 36 hours. Alma had 1.02.

The Wymore division of the Burlington, covering partically all of the southern part of the state, reported showers ranging from a fourth to three quarters of an inch Friday. On the Lincoln-Omaha division, the moisture ranged from an eighth to three-fourths.

From the Nebraska border area, the weather bureau reported .60 at Sioux City, .17 at St. Joseph, .22 at Concordia, Kas., .62 at Phillipsburg, .39 at Goodland, and 1.08 at Cheyenne.

Miss Cochran Leads Racers To Cleveland

Bendix Flier Reaches Goal From Burbank In 8 Hr. and 10 Min.; Winner In Doubt

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3—(AP)—Jacqueline Cochran, wife of the financier, Floyd Odlum, swept over Cleveland airport in her silver plane at 1:23 p. m., C. S. T., to lead the Bendix derby fliers in from Los Angeles at the opening of the national air races today.

Her elapsed time was 8 hours, 10 minutes, 3 seconds.

Because of staggered starting times, the winner among nine planes remaining in the race, after the withdrawal of George Armistead, at Winslow, Ariz., remained to be determined.

Three minutes after she sped over the finish line in her swift Seversky converted pursuit ship, she brought her racer down on the field in an easy landing.

The Bendix entrants had to wait 15 minutes on the airport before proceeding to Bendix, N. J., in an effort to collect additional prize money.

Miss Cochran's time into Cleveland was 16 minutes slower than the Bendix record set last year by Frank Fuller, San Francisco sportsman.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3—(AP)—Frank Fuller, 1937 champion, and Miss Jacqueline Cochran, only woman entrant, set a speedy pace today in the Bendix classic, heading toward Cleveland at 200 to 250 miles an hour.

Several other planes of the nine remaining in the race after one was forced out were flying at such great height that they were unreported on the 2,042 mile leg from Burbank, Cal., to Cleveland.

Three of the fliers, including Miss Cochran, had hoped to make the flight non-stop.

Hitler Mum On Moves In Czech Crisis

May Possibly Insist On Official Recognition Of National Socialism By Neighbor Country

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 3—(AP)—The supposition persisted today that Adolf Hitler told the leader of nazis in Czechoslovakia to insist on official recognition of national socialism by the Czech government.

Hitler kept his counsel about decisions he arrived at in conferences Thursday and Friday with Konrad Henlein, leader of the autonomy-seeking, nazi-supported Sudeten German minority in the neighbor country.

There was only a curt announcement that the two leaders had an intimate discussion of the situation and had "complete accord in their judgment of the situation."

It seemed logical to assume Hitler advised the Sudeten spokesman to stick to his eight-point program enunciated April 24 and demanding, in brief, complete freedom in Sudeten German districts to subscribe to nazi ideology. To the Czech government that would mean official recognition of naziism in Czechoslovakia.

Briton To See Henlein.

PRAHA, Sept. 3—(AP)—F. T. A. Ashton-Gwatkin, trouble shooter of the British mediation mission in Czechoslovakia, went to Marienbad today to see Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans.

Despite the calm assurance of Viscount Runciman, head of the mission, some Czechoslovak quarters were nervous. They feared Ashton-Gwatkin was hurrying to Henlein "to save" the deadlocked negotiations.

The more optimistic Czechoslovak view, however, was that Lord Runciman already had started talks between President Eduard Benes and the Sudeten German party's steering committee and wanted as exact information as possible to help along the delicate discussions.

Czechoslovak newspapers still viewed the situation as critical.

"We actually have gone to the extreme limit of concessions beyond which we cannot go if we want to preserve the unity and independence of the republic," said the Lidove Noviny.

G-MEN QUIT CALIFORNIA KIDNAP CASE

Federal, State Forces Are Abruptly Withdrawn From The Search For Mrs. Meeks' Abductors

YUBA CITY, Cal., Sept. 3—(AP)—Federal and state forces were abruptly withdrawn from the hunt for kidnapers of Mrs. W. R. Meeks in what observers suggested today might be a move to permit her abductors to make a contact with her orchardist husband.

Shortly after Gov. Frank Merriam recalled 120 national guardsmen and 100 state highway patrolmen, N. J. L. Pieper, federal bureau of investigation chief from San Francisco, announced that the FBI was withdrawing from the case.

"There is no evidence, thus far," Pieper said, "of the violation of any federal law. I am withdrawing FBI men from the case but the facilities of our office will be open."

The G-men withdrew just 24 hours after Meeks reported two roughly dressed men had kidnaped his 55-year old wife, demanding $15,000 ransom.

Sheriff Fears Worst.

Ranchers who had joined in yesterday's extensive hunt for the trace of the kidnapers or Mrs. Meeks' body, expressed belief outside law agents withdrew to permit the abductors to give Meeks

A. F. L. SEES RAPID BUSINESS RECOVERY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor predicted in a report published today that if increased production in capital goods continues to keep pace with rising public and private spending, business recovery "will be rapid."

The federation said in its monthly business survey of August conditions that some observers believed that when government spending gets fully under way business increases "may reach boom proportions."

But, the survey cautioned, union executives should watch for further gains in employment and payrolls.

"For as yet the foundation of buying power on which the present recovery rests has not increased greatly and the future is still uncertain," the survey said.

Oral Arguments On Jurgensen Appeal Set For Oct. 3 Session

The Nebraska Supreme court announced it will hear oral arguments on the appeal of Walter H. Jurgensen from his conviction on an embezzlement charge in the District court here, in the session opening Oct. 3.

The court has also tentatively set for hearing the same week the case of Dutiel vs. State, appealed from Omaha, which is to be a test case involving the constitutionality of the state's anti-picketing law which has been on the statute books for many years but has never stood the test of the high court.

Dozen Missing In Bear Creek Area Mountain Floods

TROUTDALE 15 MILES FROM FLOOD ZONE

Troutdale-in-the-Pines, summer resort owned by the Sidles of Lincoln and visited annually by many Lincoln people, is located only 15 miles from Morrison where the damage was so great. Troutdale, however, is located much higher up on the slope and consequently is relatively immune from any threat of flood damage.

Tom Pratt Dies In Houston, Tex.

Served As Lincoln City Clerk From 1900-09; Also Alderman

Tom Pratt, Lincoln city clerk from 1900 to 1909, died at Houston, Tex., Friday evening, according to word reaching Lincoln.

Mr. Pratt was an alderman on the city council when the commission form of government went into effect in May, 1913, and shortly after that he moved to Texas. He came to Lincoln in the 1880s.

Laura Ryan of Lincoln was a sister-in-law of Mr. Pratt's first wife, who died some time ago. He was remarried last December.

Mr. Pratt was 70 years of age and had just returned from a trip to Bermuda with his wife and daughter, Mrs. M. A. Shaw of David City, and his granddaughter, Patsy. Other survivors include Mrs. Calvin Webster of York, a daughter, and Dr. George Pratt of Omaha, a son. His body will be returned to Lincoln.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED FOR LABOR DAY

In issuing his annual Labor day proclamation, designating next Monday for its observance, as provided by law, Governor Cochran declared that "in our generation, this annual celebration has taken on a greater significance because of our rapidly changing social concepts. These new concepts and social legislation growing out of them present a challenge to the intelligence and co-operation of all citizens in our democracy, and of labor in particular."

"New rights and privileges," the governor continued, "carry with them new duties and responsibilities to the general welfare. Constructive and co-operative leadership will preserve the gains which we have made and will serve to continue the present efforts towards a better Christian social order for our state as a whole."

Mrs. Edna Van Andel Dies; Was Associate Matron Electa O.E.S.

Mrs. Edna Marie Van Andel, 40, died at 9:45 o'clock Friday night at her home, 1037 South Thirteenth street, after an extended illness. Born and reared in Lincoln, Mrs. Van Andel was a member of the First Christian church and associate matron of Electa chapter No. 8, O. E. S. She is survived by her husband, Torrence W.; a son, Sherman L., and a brother, Leroy Patterson of Lincoln.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at Hodgman's chapel, with Rev. Ray E. Hunt officiating. The Electa chapter will have charge of burial services at the grave in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Get New Pastor

POLK, Neb., Sept. 3—Rev. W. K. Lee of Fremont will be the new pastor of the Free Methodist church here. He will succeed Rev. L. J Montzingo, who has been transferred to Central City.

Resort Sections Are Struck By Torrents; Motorists Forced To Abandon Cars

DENVER, Sept. 3—(AP)—At least five persons were dead and 12 were missing in the wake of cloudburst floods that destroyed scores of buildings in two Colorado resort towns and washed three feet deep in a coal mining town.

Four bodies were found in Bear creek near Morrison, a resort center 15 miles southwest of Denver that was battered by converging flood crests roaring down Bear creek canon and Mount Vernon canon.

A fifth victim, Mrs. Walter Boyd, about 30, drowned when an automobile driven by her husband, a Louisville, Colo., physician, plunged into flooded Coal creek at a bridge washout.

Bodies Found In Stream.

The body of a woman found in Bear creek was identified as that of Mrs. Cecil Goodrich. The bodies of a boy about 12, another woman and a man also found in Bear creek have not been identified.

The 12 missing were reported in the Bear creek area.

Floods washed an area extending almost 100 miles from Morrison north to Fort Collins.

The flood wall in South Boulder canon which smashed a dance hall, cottages and concession buildings at Eldorado Springs ripped at least 17 washouts in 14 miles of track on the Denver & Salt Lake railroad's Moffat tunnel route.

Motorists Abandon Cars.

Several motorists hastily abandoned their automobiles and fled for higher ground when they heard the flood waters approaching, and saw their machines carried into the churning river.

At Erie, about seven miles northeast of Louisville, Coal creek rose three feet, forcing the evacuation of a score or more families in the coal mining community of 1,000.

Flood waters five to seven feet deep churned through Morrison causing undetermined damage to business buildings.

Japanese Land On Banks Of Yangtze

SHANGHAI, Sept. 3—(AP)—After a week of intense fighting 5,000 Japanese troops succeeded today in landing on the Yangtze river banks 90 miles downstream from Kiukiang.

They began immediately to concentrate on silencing Chinese shore batteries that have menaced Japanese warships and have helped stalemate the Japanese offensive in the Hankow area virtually since the Japanese occupation of Kiukiang July 26.

The Japanese landing was on the south bank between Anking, 215 miles downriver from Hankow, and Kweichih. Although Japanese had advanced much farther up the river, Chinese still held positions near the shore on both sides where their artillery was a constant menace to Japanese use of the river.

Fire Sweeps Iowa Town

ROWLEY, Ia., Sept. 13—(AP)—Fire believed to have started in a dance hall destroyed a large part of the business district here today.

Six of the larger stores were destroyed, and two smaller buildings. Loss was estimated at $50,000.

TVA-Generated Power Turned On In 32,000 Homes At Knoxville

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 3—(AP)—More than 32,000 homes here were energized today with TVA-generated electricity, marking the end of the city's five-year struggle for TVA power.

Current from the Norris transmission lines was switched into the city last midnight, flowing through the system acquired by the city and TVA yesterday in New York from the Tennessee Public Service Co.

Factory whistles blew and sirens screamed as the changeover was made without interruption of service.

Knoxville is the first of the larger cities in the Tennessee valley to acquire TVA power and its "yardstick rates." Mayor Walter W. Mynatt said operation of the system by the city would result in an "annual saving to residents of about $1,035,000."

Chamber To Close—The chamber of commerce will close all day Monday, Labor day.

Libraries Stay Open—All Lincoln libraries will be open on Labor day, Magnus K. Kristoffersen, associate librarian, announced Saturday.

Lincoln Used Car Exchange Week starts Tuesday. $250,000 worth of used car bargains go on sale by Lincoln's new car dealers. Watch the Lincoln Newspapers Tuesday for listings.—Adv.

Case Removed—District Judge Chappell has signed an order removing the $15,000 damage suit of Martha Peters against the Champlin Refining Co., a New Mexico corporation, to Federal court. The suit was brought for injuries said to have been received in a fall at 1508 O street.

Water Excellent—The sanitary condition of water distributed by the city in August was "excellent," exceeding the standards required by federal authorities, according to the report of L. F. Lindgren, university bacteriologist. The report shows that 109 samples were tested. Of these, 96 were from municipal, and 13 from private sources.

Objects to Fee. — Frank C. Boehmer, guardian of John B. and Robert J. Love, heirs has appealed to the Supreme court from a Lancaster county District court order directing the estate to pay William L. Walker, John McArthur and George I. Craven, Lincoln attorneys, a fee of $1,000 for services rendered the heirs. Boehmer contends the attorneys gave no service and consequently should not be paid.

Stricken Ill In Street—Theodora Raines, 23, employed at 2616 Woodsdale avenue, was found lying ill in the street near Van Dorn and Woodscrest at 12:15 a. m. Saturday. She told detectives who took her to Lincoln General hospital that she was walking home after spending the evening with friends when she became suddenly ill. Hospital authorities said her condition was fair later Saturday morning.

Court House to Close—The court house will be closed on Monday, Labor Day, County Commissioner Johnson announced Saturday.

Settlement—A lump sum-settlement of $1,349.96 was approved by District Judge Chappell in the case of Jack Kropp against the Yankee Hill Brick Manufacturing Co., and the Globe Indemnity Co. Kropp was hurt on April 30, 1936, when a falling rail struck a foot.

Rate Hearing Date—The Lincoln Telephone company, and its telephone patrons at Weeping Water, entered a stipulation with the state railway commission Saturday in which it was agreed that the hearing before the commission on the matter of proposed new rates will be held Sept. 22.

To Resume Meetings—Officers of the Lincoln Association of Manufacturers Representatives announced that meetings of the organization will be resumed Sept. 10, at the Lincoln hotel. Arrangements will be made for the members to attend the annual barbecue of the Lincoln Food Retailers association at Auto club park, Sept. 18.

August Receipts Reported.—D. L. Erickson, director of public improvements, has reported to the city council that fees and other receipts of his departments for August mounted to $4,223, which has been deposited with the city treasurer. Of the total $2,928.95 collected by the paving repair department, was the largest. Aviation field income was $695.69; plumbing permits, $186; signs, $30; and street permits, $13.50.

Ask Higher Payments—About 50 members of the Workers' alliance, headed by Frank Franks of Lincoln and a district organizer from Iowa held a conference with Neil Vandermoer, and representatives of the board of control, at the capitol Saturday. Following the conference Vandermoer said that the group made a general demand for increased payments in the various relief set-ups, particularly in employment under WPA employment and for maximum old age pensions. Vandermoer requested the group to reduce its demands to writing. Until that information is filed, Vandermoer said, he would not care to discuss the matter.

Charge Against Arab Newlywed Dropped In N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—Nijib Toonie, 27-year-old Arabian telephone engineer and his bride of a week, 17-year-old Daris Hisaw Toonie, a Missouri farm girl, were free to continue their honeymoon today.

U. S. Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter quickly dismissed a Mann act charge instituted against Toonie in St. Louis several days ago by the girl's father after Assistant Federal District Attorney John J. Dowling said the couple were legally married and the father's allegations were not supported.

The couple walked into the federal bureau of investigation office yesterday and said: "We understand we are wanted."

They had seen published reports that they were sought by federal officials after their elopement Aug. 24 from the girl's home at Neosho, Mo.

They left the federal building after the dismissal and announced they would sail next week for the bridegroom's home in Basra, Iraq, where he is in charge of the city's telephone system.

AAA TO STIMULATE SALE OF 5 MILLION BARRELS OF FLOUR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—The agricultural adjustment administration announced today expansion of its wheat export subsidy program to stimulate the foreign sale of 5,000,000 barrels of flour.

The government will pay flour exporters the indemnity payments constituting the difference between the domestic price and the competitive price at which they must sell their product in world markets.

To encourage export of 100,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat, the government is buying the grain at domestic prices and selling it to exporters at prices low enough to enable them to meet foreign competition.

The AAA said its wheat purchases to date totaled 4,823,869 bushels.

MARYLAND MAYOR SNUBS ROOSEVELT

CRISFIELD, Md., Sept. 3—(AP)—Mayor William E. Ward of Crisfield declared today there would be no official reception for President Roosevelt when he lands here Monday for a campaign swing on the eastern shore in behalf of Rep. David J. Lewis, new deal candidate for the democratic senatorial nomination.

Mayor Ward, a republican, was elected last January.

"If Mr. Roosevelt was coming to Crisfield as president of the United States, I would be only too glad to meet him and extend the hospitality of the city due the occupant of that great office," the mayor said.

"But Mr. Roosevelt is coming to the eastern shore as a politician and so I am not going to pay any attention to him.

"There isn't going to be any decoration of the town either, unless somebody wants to pay for it out of his own pocket."

During the first seven months of this year, the board said, 119,007 units were built and in the same period last year only 107,290 units.

Third Of A Million Spent In Nebraska On Federal Works

OMAHA, Sept. 3—(AP)—The public works administration regional office at Omaha reported today allotments totaling $382,705 have been made to five federal agencies for federal projects in Nebraska. The grants to the federal agencies for these projects are in addition to the many allotments to communities for non-federal public works, Regional PWA Director R. A. Radford explained, and were made from $200,000,000 earmarked by congress for that purpose.

Agencies receiving allotments from PWA for projects in Nebraska included:

War department, Fort Crook, barracks construction, $137,500.
Bureau of agricultural economics, Pine Ridge land use adjustment project, $18,705.
Bureau of fisheries, Crawford, repairs, etc., fish cultural station, $5,000.
Coast and geodetic survey, Nebraska field geodetic survey, $6,500.
Veterans administration, Lincoln, on general medical hospital, $215,000.

Corn Is Wilted By Heat Wave In Night

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—Farmers near Bloomfield believe a night heat wave which recently boosted the temperature from 102 to 108 wilted their corn. E. B. Hyde of Bloomfield said several farmers kept awake by the heat observed their thermometers and reported them rising in the early morning hours. A strong south wind was blowing but skies were clear and there was no dust.

Similar conditions prevailed throughout northeastern Nebraska and into South Dakota, he said.

Edytha Long Married To Lieut. G. C. Humphrey

Miss Clara Meierhenry Wed To Russell W. Bornemeier

The marriage service for Miss Clara Meierhenry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meierhenry, of Arlington, and Russell W. Bornemeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bornemeier, of Alvo, was read Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal church in Arlington. One hundred guests were present for the ceremony, at which the Rev. Ralph Rasmussen, of Blair, officiated. The altar was banked with green with baskets of summer blossoms and a seven branch candelabrum on either side.

Preceding the marriage, Dan Brobst, of Lincoln, sang a group of nuptial numbers, including "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Harry McClellan played the wedding music.

Miss Ruth Meierhenry, of Lincoln, was her sister's only attendant. She was frocked in dusty pink marquisette over taffeta of the same shade. She carried yellow roses.

Allan Tinstman, of Alvo, was Mr. Bornemeier's best man. Orvin Meierhenry, of Arlington, and Dale Ganz, of Alvo, were the ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin and lace. The bodice had long sleeves ending in hand points and the skirt fell into a slight train. With it Mrs. Bornemeier had a short veil caught by a halo of braided white net.

For the reception following at the church, Miss Margarethe Bornemeier and Miss Rosa Manske, both of Lincoln, served. Misses Margaret Jean Stroemer, of Alvo, and Miss Jean Echtenkamp, of Arlington, assisted. Miss Melva Meierhenry had the guest book.

The couple left immediately for Columbus, O., for a week and from there will go to Bryn Mawr, Pa., where Mr. Bornemeier will teach psychology. She is traveling in a wine costume suit trimmed in gray squirrel and black accessories.

Both have attended the University of Nebraska, where Mr. Bornemeier holds both his bachelor's and master's degrees.

RUTH HENDERSON AND WILLIAM M. SMITH, JR. MARRIED AT HARDY

MISS Ruth Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward Henderson, of Hardy, became the bride of William Martin Smith, jr., of Ithaca, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Smith, of Norwalk, O., at St. Paul's Lutheran church in Hardy at an afternoon service Saturday. The Rev. R. V. Davis, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church at Paxton, read the lines at half past two. Candelabra holding cathedral tapers were placed on either side of the altar which was banked with ferns and baskets of autumn blossoms.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Miss Marjorie Scott played a prelude of piano numbers and Philip Henderson, cousin of the bride, of Ithaca, N. Y., sang "Because" and "At Dawning." Miss Scott used the bridal chorus from Lohengrin for the processional and the Mendelssohn music for the recessional.

The maid of honor was Miss Geraldine Henderson, the bride's sister. She wore a floor length frock of gold taffeta and carried blue delphinium and Ophelia roses.

Mrs. Adrian Mathers, Mr. Smith's cousin, of Lorain, O., and Miss Elinor McFadden, of Falls City, served as bridesmaids. Their frocks were of blue taffeta and blue delphinium and Ophelia roses formed their bouquets.

The bridegroom had his brother, Alan G. Smith, of Norwalk, O., for his best man. Sedgewick Smith, of Ithaca, and Hobart Sockman, of Delaware, O., seated the guests.

Entering with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was gowned in a white satin redingote, designed with a short train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held with orange blossoms. Mrs. Smith carried white roses.

A reception for one hundred and twenty-five guests followed at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding cake centered the table and on either side were two white tapers. Yellow gladioli and blue delphinium were on the buffet. Mrs. Baird McFarland, sister of the bride, cut the cake. Miss Virginia Keim and Miss Marjorie Colborn of Lincoln poured.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home at 402 Oak avenue, Ithaca, N. Y., after September 15. She is traveling in a navy blue suit with blue accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Nebraska and received her master of science degree at Cornell university. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Ohio State university and took his master's at Cornell, where he is a member of the faculty.

Lincoln guests at the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Keim and son Wayne, Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Goodding and family, Miss Margaret Fedde, Miss Matilda Peters, Miss Bess Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson, Robert Colborn, Miss Lois Tefft, Miss Norene Johnston and Drs. Elda and Leva Walker.

KEARNEY, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP) — The Rev. Francis J. Tschida of Sutherland arrived here Saturday to replace Father H. Muenstermann as pastor of St. James Catholic church. Father Muenstermann is moving to St. Libory, after 28 years' service in Kearney.

JEANNE JACQUES BECOMES BRIDE OF LEIGH F. COFFIN

BEFORE a background of asparagus fern entwined in green lattice, Miss Jeanne Jacques, daughter of Mrs. Blanche Jacques, became the bride of Leigh F. Coffin, of Fairbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Coffin, also of Fairbury, in the First Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon. On either side of the greenery, before which the Rev. Dr. Edmund F. Miller read the service, were seven branch candelabra and tall white urns of pastel gladioli.

When the thirty guests had gathered, Miss Grace Finch, the organist, played "Liebestraum," Liszt. She used the wedding music from Lohengrin for the processional and the Mendelssohn music as the recessional.

Another sister, Miss Blanche Jacques, was her maid of honor. She was frocked in a red wine hand knit trimmed with gold. Her accessories were in brown and she wore a corsage of bronze and gold pompoms.

E. C. Trimbel, of Fairbury, was the best man. Harlowe W. Jacques, brother of the bride, of Omaha, seated the guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by another brother, Dale B. Jacques, had chosen a Louise Mulligan dressmaker suit of Boy Blue. With it, she had a white lace vestee, red wine accessories, and a hat with a veil. Her flowers were a corsage of white gladioli.

A reception for the guests followed at the home, 1548 Washington street. The white wedding cake and pink and white pompoms centered the table. Assisting were Mrs. Dale B. Jacques and Mrs. F. Ward Jacques. Miss Margaret Wiseman was in the gift room.

Following a trip to the Ozarks, Mr. and Mrs. Coffin will be at home at 824 Fifth street, Fairbury. Mrs. Coffin is a former University of Nebraska student.

Guests from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Brickell, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy D. Clark, Miss Stella Coffin, and Miss Opal Lisnly, all of Fairbury; Mrs. C. F. Hollenbeck, Omaha; and Mrs. Iola Thompson, Alexandria.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Frank Powers and daughter, Herma, of Marietta, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lauer and children, Mildred and Clarence, of Akron, O., who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Parks, left Friday for their homes. Mrs. Powers and Mrs. Parks are sisters.

Miss Betty Jean Peterson has returned to her home in Nebraska City after several days as the guest of Miss Janice Felthauser. Miss Peterson attended Lindenwood last year and this fall enters the university, where Miss Felthauser also will be a sophomore.

ROOSEVELT MAY CROSS PARTY LINE

Possibility Of Seeking 'Liberal' Candidates Among Republicans Is Indicated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—President Roosevelt's avowed favor for "liberal" candidates, even if republican, set politicians to speculating today on the possibility of cross-party activity by the white house in the fall congressional campaigns.

While the president said in discussing the subject at his press conference yesterday that he was talking about principles and not specific candidates, his statement that "the good of the country rises above party" created these questions:

Would he seek to give practical effect to the assertion by approving the candidacies of other than democratic party members?

In a race between a republican he considered "liberal" and a democrat he viewed as "conservative" would he espouse the candidacy of the republican?

Statement Stirs Reaction.

Mr. Roosevelt's summation of the principle involved was that he had not "the slightest objection" to election of a "good liberal" running on a republican ticket, and he said he thought such a man would serve the country better than a "conservative" democrat.

The statement stirred quick reaction in both republican and democratic quarters.

John Hamilton, republican national chairman, challenged the president's conception of "liberalism," saying "the true republicans running for congress this year are liberals and most of the democrats seeking re-election are not."

He declared he could not believe that Mr. Roosevelt actually means what he says, because if he does his statement constitutes a repudiation of the new deal and a large number of his followers on Capitol hill."

Logan Disagrees.

"True liberals, today as always," Hamilton said, "are those making a determined fight against the centralization of governmental powers in one man."

Senator Logan (D-Ky), usually a strong supporter of the president's views, said he believed in staying within party lines. This is necessary, he said, to maintain party responsibility in government.

"If the democrats of a state choose a conservative," Logan added, "I would be for his election in preference to the republicans' choice."

Going to Maryland.

Mr. Roosevelt will go into Maryland this week-end in an effort to bolster the opposition to Senator Millard E. Tydings and strengthen the ranks of Tydings' new deal opponent, Rep. David J. Lewis.

Leaving Washington tomorrow morning, the president will go to Morgantown, Md., to inspect the site of a proposed bridge across the Potomac river. He will spend Sunday night aboard the yacht Potomac and on Labor day will make speeches at Salisbury and Denton, Md. Lewis is to accompany him on the trip.

Mr. Roosevelt will return to Washington late Monday and will leave the capital a few hours later for Hyde Park, N. Y., to spend several days.

At his home in New Albany, Ind., Senator Minton (D-Ind) commented after hearing excerpts from Mr. Roosevelt's remarks: "I don't know about that; I'm in favor of the democrats."

Senator Borah (R-Idaho), when asked to define liberalism, once told a questioner, "Liberalism is anything that is not conservative."

Pity the south. It will starve raising cotton, and the only other crop it can raise without competing with other sections is children.

Davis' Sister Says She Took Money To Hines

Prosecutor Nearing End Of Case Against Tammany Boss

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—With the presentation of testimony intended to corroborate the accusations of gangland informers that James J. Hines shared liberally in the profits of a $20,000,000 policy racket, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's case against the Tammany district leader was near completion today.

When the trial recessed yesterday until Tuesday, at the end of its third week, 39 witnesses had testified. Approximately 10 more prosecution witnesses were scheduled.

The defense strategy has not been revealed. With the end of the state's case in sight, the most frequent question heard around the courtroom was "Will Hines take the stand?"

Took Money to Hines.

The grizzled democratic boss, enraged once to the point of denouncing a witness in open court as a liar, has declared he would welcome an opportunity to match wits and words with young Dewey, racket-busting republican prosecutor.

One of many successive climaxes in the startling story of intrigue, gunnery and corruption placed before the jury was reached at the end of yesterday's session when Mrs. Rose Wendorff, sister of Dixie Davis, dapper little gang lawyer, testified she personally had delivered money to Hines four or five times.

With her testimony was offered a $500 check which she said she had given to Hines. This was the first written evidence purportedly linking Hines directly to the racket which Davis represented in court. The check was made out to "cash" and bore on its back the name "J. Hines" which Dewey acknowledged was not in the defendant's handwriting.

"Miss Nebraska" On Way to Atlantic City

Emajoe Newby—"Miss Nebraska"—quietly slipped out of Lincoln Friday night on the Ak-Sar-Ben, bound for Atlantic City and the national beauty contest.

No fanfare of trumpets, no screaming banners, no bouquets, or orchidaceous speeches sent the 17-year old Humboldt girl on her way. Instead, a party of friends—to whom she promised to "do my best"—waved and shouted encouragement. Her mother, Mrs. Rex Newby, accompanied her.

There was only one hitch—Thursday night Miss Nebraska parked the family car, with her new $300 wardrobe inside, in front of a local hotel and retired without bothering to lock the car door. The board, which bought the wardrobe felt better when Miss Newby reassured it that nothing was disturbed.

National President To Address State Waltons

The sixteenth annual Izaak Walton league state convention is to be held at Columbus Sept. 19 and 20. Otto C. Doering, Chicago, national president of the league, will be in attendance. Colonel Robert P. Glassburn of the coast artillery, Omaha, will be one of the principal speakers.

Prize Calves Sold

OMAHA, Sept. 3—(AP)—Top grade Otoe county 4-H club calves including the Otoe county fair grand champion were sold on the South Omaha market today. The grand champion, a 750-pound heifer, returned $11 per hundred to Darold Grundman, 10, son of H. W. Grundman, president of the fair association. Darold's brother, Donald, received $12.25 per hundred for a 1,700 pound steer. A large number of Otoe county farm youngsters were at the yards during the sale. The fair closed at Syracuse Thursday.

Correct this sentence: "When haste isn't necessary," said the motorist, "a thirty second delay doesn't annoy me."

Ten Killed In 2 Ohio Crashes

DAYTON, O., Sept. 3—(AP)—Death ruled the highways in this vicinity early today.

Ten persons, including two elderly newlyweds and two children, were killed in two separate automobile collisions, one near Lebanon, the other on the outskirts of Dayton.

Five other persons, all critically injured, lay in Dayton hospitals.

The dead in the Lebanon accident were C. A. Platt, 59, of adjoining Butler county, his wife, 50; Mrs. Audrey Grigsby, riding with them to visit Platt's son at a CCC camp; Mrs. Helen Mylor, 42, and her two sons, Thomas, 14, and Robert, 12. The Platts were married in July.

Victims of the Dayton crash were Harry White, Paul R. Leonard, and two unidentified women.

Loup District Going Concern

Is Now Supplying Current To Several Rural Districts

COLUMBUS, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—The Loup River power district is in the "operation" stage. Officials said the balance remaining in PWA allotments plus revenue from energy sold will carry the district through until enough current is sold to meet running expenses.

The PWA docket under which a $6,700,000 loan and $2,000,000 grant was made for the canal and power plants, and the docket under which the project was allotted $2,314,000, 45 per cent of which was a grant, are closed. The latter allotment was for the purpose of building transmission lines to Valley, Lincoln and Norfolk. Not all of the allotment was used, officials said.

The two Loup power plants, one at Columbus and the other at Munroe, are selling about 4,000 kilowatts per day. Customers include the North and Middle Loup power districts, the Southern Nebraska, Platte, Polk, Cuming, and Lancaster county rural electrification districts, the Western Public Service company, the Platte Valley district power house at North Platte, and the Central Nebraska's substation at Hastings.

Robert Boles Held Stock Fraud Charge

OMAHA, Sept. 3—(AP)—Federal Judge Donohoe held Robert Boles, 48, under $20,000 bond pending trial on charges of using interstate communications to defraud after Boles was turned over to the court by Attorney John M. Berger. Boles was brought back from Benton Harbor, Mich., where he was arrested when Berger circularized police departments after Boles disappeared while at liberty under a $5,000 bond signed by Mrs. Berger. A federal indictment here accuses Boles of defrauding Dr. George A. Haslam, Fremont, of $547 in a fake stock sale.

Two Are Sentenced

KEARNEY, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—District Judge Hostetler sentenced James Lonnie Ward, Oklahoman arrested here after a series of thefts from parked automobiles, to five years in the penitentiary. Ward pleaded guilty to a larceny charge. Vernon Lewis, Montrose, Colo., youth recaptured recently after escaping from the industrial school here, was sentenced to three years in the reformatory. He pleaded guilty to automobile theft.

To Continue Campaign

The Allied Printing Trades council is making plans to continue an advertising campaign initiated several months ago, in the interest of Lincoln manufacturing printers using the union label. The purpose is to stress upon purchasers of printing the buying power of union workers in unionized printing establishments. Decision to further the campaign was reached at a meeting of the council at the Capital hotel.

Ex-Envoy Sheffield Dies

SARANAC INN, N. Y., Sept. 3—(AP)—Funeral services for James Rockwell Sheffield, 74, U. S. ambassador to Mexico from 1924 to 1927, were held here today.

Sheffield, a former close associate of Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft and Elihu Root, died here yesterday. He had suffered from arthritis for several years.

Opening At Doane

CRETE, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—Doane college will begin its sixty-seventh academic year on Sept. 13 with a two-day registration period. Regular classes begin Sept. 15. The program of freshmen orientation includes various types of examinations, round table discussions, and addresses. A "campus sister" picnic for co-eds and a stag dinner for men will conclude the program.

Two Bound Over

BLAIR, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—Levi Gamron, 20, Blair, and David Newell, 21, Arlington, waived preliminary hearing on charges of burglary before County Judge Carrigan and were bound over to District court under $500 bond. The men are charged with robbing the North Side lunch here. Authorities said both men have served sentences in the state reformatory.

Brainard Festival

BRAINARD, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—Brainard's annual "old home town festival" is being held here today with a "States of the Union" parade and a concert by the town's 70-piece band as highlights.

Couple Killed Near Schuyler

Car Crashes With Truck And Milwaukee Pair Lose Lives

SCHUYLER, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—An automobile-truck collision killed Antony S. Madala, Milwaukee, Wis., and a woman identified by the sheriff's office as Ruth Schermer, also of Milwaukee, Wis., tourists, on highway 30 two miles west of here Friday afternoon. Sheriff Ernest S. DeBower said he confirmed identification with Milwaukee authorities.

Their car skidded off the pavement, then careened into the path of a motor truck, driven by O. B. Ommert of Elwood. Ommert escaped with bruises. The Wisconsin car was found 150 feet from the point of collision, virtually demolished. The occupants met instant death. Children's toys were found in the car, and searchers combed the vicinity of the accident in the belief that a child may have been with them and thrown clear of the wreckage. They found none. Ommert was not held.

The victims were enroute here from Colorado and other western states.

Pedestrian Killed.

OMAHA, Sept. 3—(AP)—A man identified by letters in his pockets as John Buss, about 60, Gothenburg, Neb., was killed near Eighty-second and Center streets Friday night when he was struck by a transport truck. The letters indicated Buss was in an Omaha hospital recently to undergo an eye operation and deputy sheriffs believed he started to hitch-hike home.

M. M. Sedore, Lincoln, driver of the truck, said that he swerved his truck sharply when the headlights showed a walking man a dozen feet ahead. The tractor of the vehicle missed the man, but a rear corner of the trailer struck him as it went by.

Buss suffered a broken leg and internal injuries. The truck was bound for Lincoln.

HITCH HIKER ROBS MOTORIST OF CASH AND TAKES HIS CAR

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 3—(AP)—John B. Van Haelin, jr., Tenafly, N. J., airplane mechanic, was robbed of $42 by a well dressed hitch hiker who escaped in Van Haelin's car about eight miles east of Council Bluffs late Friday.

Van Haelin told officers he picked up the man, who appeared about 24 years old, about three miles west of Davenport. He said the man pushed an automatic into his side, demanded his wallet, driver's license and airplane mechanic's license, and then forced him out of the car.

This is the time of the year when college grid coaches are so concerned about prospects they begin to wonder whether or not they should have been ditch-diggers.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Baur Funeral To Be Held At Murdock Sunday

Mrs. Wilhelmina Baur, 72, died Friday morning at her home in Murdock. Born in Treverton, Pa., Mrs. Baur came to Omaha in 1887 with her parents. After a short stay there, the family moved to Wann, Neb., and in 1904, moved with her husband, Gottlob Baur, to Ithaca, Neb., where they operated a general merchandising establishment.

Mrs. Baur.

In 1913, the Baurs moved to Murdock, Neb., where they lived since. Mr. Baur preceded her in death by a year. Mrs. Baur is survived by seven daughters, Mrs. William Rueman of Omaha, Mrs. Dan Panska of Louisville, Neb., Mrs. John Gakemeier, Miss Helen Baur, and Miss Ruth Baur, all of Murdock, and Mrs. John Mulliner and Mrs. O. B. Lupardus, both of Lincoln; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and at the Murdock Evangelical church at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Harvey A. Schwab officiating. Burial will be in the Louisville cemetery.

Bakers Set Hearings On Regulatory Act

Seek Reactions To Proposal At 6 Meetings In State: In Lincoln Sept. 13

E. B. Foster, secretary of the Nebraska Master Bakers association, announced Saturday that six meetings will be held over the state beginning Sept. 12 in Omaha to allow bakers to give their reactions to the proposed bakery regulatory act.

The suggested law has already been submitted to the bakers once and revised in line with suggestions received, Foster said. The bill is patterned after laws now in force in Oregon and Washington.

"The association's legislative committee is not trying to sell this bill to the bakers," Foster declared. "The association several months ago directed the legislative committee to prepare a measure of some sort and the one proposed is what we've mapped out. If the bakers don't like it, we want to know about it."

Discussion meetings have been scheduled as follows: Sept. 12, Omaha; Sept. 13, Lincoln; Sept. 14, Norfolk; Sept. 19, Hastings; Sept. 20, North Platte, and Sept. 21, Scottsbluff.

The act proposed by the legislative committee would establish a state bakery board, provide for licensing of bakers and require bakers to post price lists and give notice to the board before changing their prices.

28,614 Apply For Wheat Insurance

Saunders Tops List With 2,000 Applications; 850 Is Lancaster Total

Nebraska farmers made 28,614 applications for federal wheat insurance, according to a compilation made Saturday by Tom Allington, state wheat insurance supervisor. Complete figures were not available in all counties and the total figure is expected to be over 30,000.

Saunders county filed the most applications with a total of 2,000. Perkins county was second with 1,087 and Gage third with 1,021. Lancaster county had 850 applications. Other high ranking counties were Jefferson, Cheyenne, Butler, Cass, Buffalo and Thayer.

Allington said Nebraska led the nation in the number of wheat insurance applications. Prior to the August 31 deadline, Ohio had the highest total.

Most of the premiums for the "all-risk" insurance will be paid in cash instead of wheat, Allington said, and is particularly true in western Nebraska. When the premiums are paid in wheat, the county crop supervisor sells it immediately, and the FCI buys additional grain elsewhere for the reserve.

The number of crop insurance applications by counties:

Willis Axtell Dies At Raymond Farm Home

Willis O. Axtell, 74, farmer near Raymond for over 30 years, died Friday evening at his home northeast of Raymond. A member of the Modern Woodmen of America, Mr. Axtell is survived by his wife, Carrie E.; four daughters, Alice C., at home, Mrs. Margaret Beck of Bloomsberry, Canada, Mrs. Ervin Deornburgh of Las Palomas, N. M., and Mrs. T. R. Ferguson of Winston, N. M.; a son, George W., of Muskogee, Okla.; a sister, Mrs. W. Ross Pedley of Bertrand, Neb.; five grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

Car Driver Given Penitentiary Term

OGALLALA, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—Ray Little, Ogallala, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of A. J. Majors, 65, of Chappell in an automobile collision east of Paxton Monday night, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary by District Judge Nisley at North Platte Friday. Little pleaded guilty to the charge in County court here. Majors was fixing a rear tire on his parked automobile when it was struck by a car driven by Little.

Inheritance Tax Levy

BEATRICE, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—A state inheritance tax of $13,233 was levied on the estate of Susan E. Norcross, Beatrice, by County Judge Noble today. He said the tax was the largest on any estate probated in Gage county in the past 10 years. Gage county's share came to $11,111.

Two Lincoln Men Hurt Painfully As Car Hits Bridge Near Millard

George Klaus, 19, of 3801 North First street, and John Meyers, 36, 1739 G street, were injured, neither seriously, when a car in which they were riding skidded out of control and struck a bridge railing three miles south of Millard, late Friday afternoon.

Both of the men received chest and head injuries and Meyers also suffered a severe knee injury. Dr. T. F. McCarthy attended the two at St. Elizabeth hospital where their condition was reported improved Saturday morning.

The two, returning from Omaha at the time of the mishap, were brought to Lincoln by a passing motorist.

3 Youths, Apprehended After Snatching Purse, Sent To Detention Home

Three boys, allegedly purse-snatchers, were taken to the detention home by detectives Friday afternoon.

Mrs. J. B. Kempkes, 2222 U street, told police she was walking on Q street near Seventeenth when the three boys ran down the sidewalk, bumped her, and seized her purse. She called her son, Hubert, 19, working at 1714 Q street, who caught the boy with the purse. He told police who the others were. Mrs. Kempkes said the pocketbook was not rifled.

International Head Of Cosmopolitans Coming

Plans for resumption of regular meetings at the Lincoln hotel on Sept. 16 were made by the Cosmopolitan club at the Capital hotel Friday. On Sept. 23 International President Lovell Smith of Saskatchewan, Canada will be a guest of honor. Mrs. Smith will accompany him.

Law Frat Is Urged To Refuse Criminals Aid

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—(AP)—A resolution urging members of the Delta Theta Phi law fraternity to refuse services to habitual criminals was adopted at the final session of the fraternity's convention yesterday.

Mysterious Trout

They caught a one and one-half pound rainbow trout. How the trout got into the pool remains a mystery.

BLIND VOYAGE

Of Charis Winslowe some whispered that she was a grand duchess; others that she had been a servant. But upon one point there was no disagreement: that she was beautiful. A woman of mystery and magnificence—one of many fascinations of Mildred Snow Gleason's latest serial. It starts.

JUNGLE CAPITAL . . .

Strange as it seems, the capital of Brazil is not located at Rio de Janiero, but in the midst of a jungle wilderness in the state of Goyaz.

According to the present Constitution of the United States of Brazil, adopted in 1891, the capital of the country is fixed at the exact geographical center of that country.

This definition places the capital in a secluded spot in the state of Gdyaz. For obvious reasons the seat of government was never moved there, but remains in "Rio."

EHTIOPIAN KINGS . . .

The royal turnover in Ethiopia reached an amazing peak in the year 1813, when, strange as it seems, there were alive at the same time no less than six ex-kings besides the one on the throne at that time.

The ex-kings and the dates of their reigns were: Yasus, 1784-88; Takla Haymanot, 1788-89; Iskias, 1789-95; Baeda Maryam, 1795-97; Junus, 1797; and Adiinio, 1797-99. King of Ethiopia in 1813 was Egwala Sion, who ruled from 1799 to 1818.

ARCHERY-GOLF . . .

One of the strangest golf tournaments ever held was staged recently on a par 35 nine-hole course at Mandan, North Dakota.

J. H. Gipple, using a bow and arrow instead of golf clubs and ball, challenged Charles Ellis, Jr., an orthodox golfer. The men ended up with the same score—a 38.

Like the skilled Mandan Indian archers who roamed the western plains years ago, Gipple proved that archery is just as accurate as the more modern game of golf.

PATHFINDER, in a carefully prepared survey, charges gambling in various forms, inspires the people of the United States to spend 7 billions annually on chance. The accuracy of the figures may be questioned, because they can be nothing but estimates. But gambling does represent the biggest racket in the country today, and the revenues which support it annually aggregate more than this country spends to fight its way out of the depression. It spends more on gambling than it spends on charity in every form; more than it spends on education; and more than it spends on any single worthwhile undertaking.

* * *

"THAT gambling persists almost everywhere in the United States," Pathfinder says, "despite ceaseless efforts to crush it, is due primarily to the human urge to take a chance. In America, perhaps more than any other nation on the earth, the universal itch to get something for nothing has been magnified out of all proportion."

* * *

ON SEVENTY race tracks, where "playing the ponies" is legal, Pathfinder says the total "take" from legal wagers in 1937 was over 400 million dollars annually. In the nation F. B. Warren estimated that "track wagers" and "off-track bookmaking" involved a billion and a quarter dollars last year. The "numbers or policy" fliers called for a million dollars a day. Pinball games involved another half billion annually. Sweepstakes abroad drew 30 million dollars out of the United States. To these and one other which will be mentioned later, should be added dice, wheel, and card games, in which the aggregate sums involved are difficult of determination but run into the hundreds of millions.

* * *

ON SLOT machines, Pathfinder has this to say: "Slot machines, illegal everywhere except in Nevada, are a hangover from the prohibition era, when they were an adjunct of nearly every bar and speakeasy in the nation. Clearly a "sucker's game" most slot machines pay back in winnings only about 20 per cent of the money put into them. Between 1935 and 1937, licensed slot machines were allowed in Florida, which took in about 65 million dollars annually. In the nation it is estimated the machines garner 200 million dollars every year."

* * *

THOSE figures are something to shoot at. The slot machine annually last year did better than the steel industry, the automobile industry, or any line of business in the country. And with a 200 million dollar volume, the public which chipped in its pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters, and occasionally a half dollar and a dollar, got back only a fifth of what it put in. That was a profit "deluxe." If every man who tries to make a living in the ordinary recognized manner of toil in a productive effort, could come even to the shadow of such a bonanza he would have license to feel he had arrived at the promised land.

* * *

IT IS rather a pitiful development, so difficult of discussion and approach. Sermonizing is not going to help. People, who make it possible, do not care for sermons. They get a shot in the arm in speculating upon the probability of success and the anticipation of "hitting" glosses over the disappointment of losing. It is one thing which people do where hope is just as strong at the finish as it is at the start. And yet the cold facts are, as disclosed by Pathfinder, that only 20 per cent of that which goes into the slot machine comes back to those who put it in, and there isn't even the element of luck involved. It is settled before the coin is inserted in the slot, and the crank is pulled.

* *

A FEW years back it was the stock market which had people agog. They took a real licking in staking their judgment stocks would go up or go down. That wasn't a starter, however, in trying to beat a game which couldn't be beaten. And now with the spot light turned on, and with the country becoming more conscious of what is going on, the issue comes forward to legalize the operation of slot machines and of other games of chance. The people of Nebraska made a serious mistake in legalizing "playing the ponies." They will make a more serious mistake if they legalize the operation of the slot machine.

A Bindweed Campaign

THE energy revealed in proposing a half million dollar bindweed eradication program in Nebraska shows a full appreciation for the seriousness of conditions in a large number of Nebraska counties.

Bindweed will take the land if given a chance.

Its inroads in recent years have been marked, particularly in some of the central Nebraska counties where the soil was the most productive in the state. And once that it gets a foothold it is difficult to defeat. The individual farmer is helpless to combat it without the co-operation of all of his neighbors. He may spend a great amount of labor and a considerable amount of money but it spreads rapidly and unless the entire area is clear, the man who rids his land of it finds he has his work to do all over again if others neglect to clear their fields. Even united efforts on the farms do not take care of the problem. One source of infection from bindweed is the right of way adjoining the highways and the railroad tracks. In a good many instances those right of ways were responsible for bindweed getting a foothold in neighboring fields which belong to farmers.

The exact character of the proposed program has not been outlined but it is indicated that its main purpose is to clear the public roads of the weeds.

And because in parts of Nebraska the failure of corn again foreshadows a great need of employment for farmers during the fall, winter and early spring months, a bindweed campaign would fit in splendidly to supply that employment.

Job Belongs To The Man

ONE of the most significant findings of the special committee named to inquire into the relation that exists between industry and labor in England is found in this:

"Strike violence is rare because 'the job belongs to the man' and neither side in dispute wants to hinder a quick settlement."

That is only common sense. There is no winner in the strike. It is costly to labor, to capital, and costliest of all to the public which is the third party. Capital frequently gets its neck bowed and says that it will not give in a single inch. Labor frequently takes an arbitrary attitude and injures itself. One clear fact stands out. Strikes are costly in their suspension of employment and of production—costly to labor in the loss of employment—and costly to capital in the loss of production.

REMEDYING GENERAL DEFECTS BEFORE OPENING OF SCHOOL

I have discussed this week the preparation of the child who is first entering school, first, from the standpoint of protection against dangerous contagious diseases and, second, from the standpoint of effectiveness of vision.

But there are many other physical defects that should be considered.

The child at school is exposed to new responsibilities, and it should be ascertained that he comes to his competitive job, as far as possible, with a healthy and efficient body.

This, as Dr. Allen G. Ireland says, is decidedly the parents' job, and it is the most important way in which they can help the school to do better work. Learning means strain on every resource of the mind and body, and effectiveness is a matter of fitness; that is, physical and mental preparedness to do one's best. Teachers know how true that is. Too many of them are burdened with classes of unfit children.

Commonest Handicaps.

The commonest handicaps, according to careful surveys, are decayed teeth, sore gums, adenoids, diseased tonsils, defective vision, impaired hearing, and malnutrition. All of these can be remedied and the time to do it is before school opens. To wait until after school frequently means loss of time for the pupil and further postponment by the parent. Consult your physician and dentist now. Have these handicaps to good school work removed before your child gets off to a poor start in the new term.

The Parent-Teacher association is engaged in many excellent projects for the welfare of children. But in my opinion they are making one contribution which stands out above all others. I refer to the school lunch—either the mid-session milk luncheon or the organized hot luncheon at noon.

Never before has there been greater need for the Parent-Teacher associations to plan good and adequate school luncheons. The economic conditions of recent years have deprived many households and their children of physical and emotional security. Food has been less plentiful and less wisely chosen. And in some cases, school boards have been compelled to withdraw financial support for the luncheons.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS.

J. W. C.: "Will you please give a diet list for one who has amoebic dysentery?"

Answer: There is no specific diet for amboebic dysentery, but while the inside of the intestines are still raw, it would be advisable to eat only soft food with no residue—avoid vegetables, fruits except fruit juices and stringy meats. When healing is complete a general diet is advisable.

O. B.: "I was so unfortuiate as to eat a cracker which had red ants on it. What effect will they have on my system? I imagine I feel them crawling under my skin."

Answer: Your imagination is working overtime. They were killed by your digestive juices within three minutes of the time you swallowed them.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Mrs. Jerry Is Uneasy

Don't backward look, but look ahead;
The future's yours; the past is dead.
—Old Mother Nature.

Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Jerry had lived a long time in or near the Smiling Pool. Most of the time they had had a house where the water was shallow at the upper end of the Smiling Pool where the cattails grew. In the spring when the water had risen and driven them out of their house they had moved over to a fine burrow in the bank of the Laughing Brook.

They had raised many children there. Some were living in the neighborhood. Others had gone down the Laughing Brook to the Big River and so out into the Great World to make homes for themselves.

Jerry liked the Smiling Pool. He had lived there practically all his life. Even when he and Mrs. Jerry had been swept away in a great flood they had finally made their way back. "It is the best place in all the Great World," he had declared many times and had believed it. But a happy home always is the best place in all the Great World. Everyone knows this.

Jerry had spent a pleasant, rather lazy, summer. Mrs. Jerry had spent a busy one. Good mothers usually are busy, especially while the children are small. Now fall was close at hand and Mrs. Jerry had more time to herself. You see the last of the second family of children were well grown and able to look out for themselves, or felt that they were.

For several days Mrs. Jerry had spent considerable time among the rushes and cattails wandering about. She didn't appear to be eating more than usual in so far as Jerry could see.

"What makes you so uneasy, my dear?" Jerry asked.

"Am I uneasy?" replied Mrs. Jerry.

"You seem so to me," said Jerry in his high squeaky voice. "What do you wander about so much for?"

"Oh, I'm just looking around," replied Mrs. Jerry, and this was all he could get from her for several days.

She visited the children who were living near. Late one afternoon when it was about time for the coming of the Black Shadows from the Purple Hills she disappeared down the Laughing Brook and she didn't come back that night. No, sir, she didn't return that night. It was very late the following night before Jerry saw her again.

"Where have you been?" he wanted to know.

"Looking around," she replied.

"Looking around for what? It seems to me that you grow more uneasy these days," said Jerry.

"What makes you so uneasy, my dear?" Jerry asked.

"I am," replied Mrs. Jerry. "I've been uneasy in my mind for some time."

Jerry stared at her a bit blankly. 'Uneasy in your mind?" said he, as if he didn't understand, as indeed he didn't. "What under the sun is the matter with you? Are you sick or something? Why should you be uneasy in your mind? What is wrong? With the children no longer to be scared for you should take it easy now until we have to put things in shape for the winter. What are you worrying about?"

"The winter and where we are going to live," replied Mrs. Jerry.

"Wh-wh-what's that?" cried Jerry as if he doubted his own ears.

Mrs. Jerry repeated. Jerry still looked blank, as if he didn't understand at all what she was talking about. "Why we'll live right where we are here in the Smiling Pool just as we always have," said he.

"I wonder," replied Mrs. Jerry.

"What do you wonder? Do talk sense," retorted Jerry crossly.

"I wonder if we can live here through another winter," said Mrs. Jerry. "I doubt it. It is this that has made me so uneasy."

Jerry did stare at her then. "You're crazy," said he.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

JUST A MAN.

This is how we felt about him;
If he said it, he believed it.
He gave no one cause to doubt him;
Paid the bill as he received it.

Gave and never mentioned giving;
Helped and never talked of aiding;
Held all joy a part of living,
Just as much as sin-evading.

Had a certain sense of beauty
And the niceness of creation;
Held the man who did his duty
Earned and merited salvation.

Without fuss or bother,
He assumed his share of labor;
Loved as a devoted father;
Workman true and cheerful neighbor.

CALLING ALL DOGS!

By Albert Payson Terhune

THE UNPOPULAR DOG-TAX.

Yesterday, I told you dog-licenses originated in England, in 1796, in order to help balance the British budget; and how the tax spread through Euope anrd through the United States. In Great Britain, today, the license fee is $1.82. Here in America, it varies, in different states, from $1 per annum up to several times that sum. In many of our states, the license fee for a female dog is twice or thrice times as high as for a male: which strikes me as somewhat unjust.

If I may judge from letters written to me by hundreds of you readers, the entire dog-tax system seems to be regarded by many people as unfair. It is argued by such readers that the dog is the only domestic animal on which any tax is imposed. Throughout most of the country a man may own five thousand cattle or a thousand horses or ten thousand sheep, and need not pay a license fee on any of them. A householder may own twenty cats, and the cats cost not a penny in taxation.

The dog alone is taxed. And if his tax money is not paid he is put to death. Hundreds of dogs are of practical use in farm work and as household guards. They serve often a higher utilitarian purpose than does any other animal. Yet they alone are taxed. And the alternative is death. Is it fair, readers? Or isn't it?

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTMARSH

The Characters.

Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.

Ottilie Wills, a beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday: The police (tipped off by Geiss) search the chalet, but Dunning saves me by taking the gun and Eve's letter. Later we tell Ottilie that the murdered girl was her sister.

Chapter 17.
OTTILIE'S STORY.

"I knew it," Ottilie said at last, in a flat, expressionless voice. "I've been sure for a long time that something terrible would happen to her. That's why I was scared to ask you. Tell me about it, please."

And so I told her the story of Eve Monet's death, thought with certain reservations, for I did not speak of the letter, nor of the startling events of that morning and the part the ubiquitous Mr. Dunning had played in them. "I ought to warn you, though," I finished, "that the police here are convinced I had something to do with your sister's murder. You see, I can't give any reasonable explanation as to why she spoke to me."

She smiled at that, a pathetic little twist of the lips. "I could tell them the reason right off. There was a man that Melanie liked a lot—I guess she would have married him, only he was killed in an aeroplane crash last year — and you're the living image of him. She was in trouble of some sort, and she felt she could trust you."

She clinched her hands. "You're expecting me to do some weeping," she added, "but I've been steeling myself to face something of this sort, these last three months, and I won't crack up—not yet awhile." She looked from one to the other of us. "You've been so frank, and so wonderfully kind. I owe you some sort of explanation, and the best way is to tell you just how it happened. My sister, for the past year or so, had been acting as secretary to my uncle, and last February she complained of feeling poorly and arranged to go and stay with a school-friend in Santa Barbara. Six weeks passed, and her letters all said what a good time she was having and how she wasn't ready to come home yet awhile—and then one day I had a short note announcing her safe arrival. That was such a queer thing that I took a plane to California, and when I arrived I found she had never been to Santa Barbara at all. She'd left a lot of letters with her friends to be mailed at regular intervals—only, you see, the first one had got sort of misplaced."

Hugo was eyeing her closely, and even as she called a hovering waiter and ordered champagne cocktails, his gaze never left her face. "And the sequel?" he prompted. "Finding that your sister was not at Santa Barbara, what did you do then?"

"Why," she said uncertainly, "the obvious thing. I flew back to New York, told my uncle what had happened, and we started to try and find her. In his position it was easy for him to make private inquiries, and we soon discovered that she had sailed for Plymouth two days after she left home. She was traveling under her own name, and we traced her as far as London, but there—" she spread out her hands—"the trail was lost. My uncle asked Scotland Yard to help, and when they drew a blank we appealed to the Surete, but the trouble was we couldn't risk a scandal, with my uncle's position. It all had to be done so secretly."

"Who Will Be Next?"

"And just why," said Hugo quietly, "did you expect a scandal?"

"It was natural, wasn't it?" she retorted. "A young girl, and niece of a man like my uncle, leaves home for no reason, comes to Europe, vanishes! If I had had my way, I'd have let rip—tried all ways to find her—radio, the papers, everything—but my uncle couldn't think only of himself. He was putting through a big deal and he had to think of his business associates."

"And what did the Surete do?" I asked.

"The Surete," she answered, "after six months, reported that they had a clue. An unnamed girl, answering to my sister's description, had been seen at Deauville with a man called Vladimir Rakovsky, but they lost track of them both, and when they found him again, in Italy, he was alone and denied ever having seen her. It was then that my uncle decided to send Pat O'Donnell across to look for her. We had known him a long time. He was working for an agency whose head was a friend of ours. He was kind and trustworthy."

She broke off and sipped thirstily at her cocktail. "I should have explained," she went on, "that last fall my uncle decided to come to the Riviera this summer for a short vacation. He had engaged rooms for us all at Cap d'Antibes, and we were to have sailed the first week in August; but then we suddenly got a cable from Pat, saying: 'On the trail. Come at once,' and we came a week earlier than we had meant. We got here two days ago and have been waiting news from him ever since. I can't think" — her lip suddenly trembled—"why he doesn't get in touch with us."

"Ottilie," I said hurriedly, "you've taken a big knock—now you must face a lesser one. O'Donnell was the second man to leave the casino last night. He was shot down trying to catch your sister's murderer."

She gasped, and every atom of color drained from her face. "Pat too?" she said tonelessly. "First Melanie, then him. Who will be the next?"

"To answer that," said Hugo quietly, "it would be a considerable help if you would explain just why your sister left home and what you know of the three men she was associating with."

For an instant she was silent, obviously fighting for self-control; then she looked up at him calmly. "I don't understand you," she said. "I've told you how it happened. I can't do more."

Hugo stood up abruptly. "In that case," he said, and though his voice was level I could hear that he was very angry, "there's no more to be said. If you will tell me where you left your car, I will bring it round for you. You know," he added reflectively, "you are a very foolish young woman. You have no reason to distrust me. You know who I am, and I have kept very little back from you."

She caught him up quickly. "Then you have kept something back?"

"Certainly," he answered gravely. "And I am very glad of it, for I shall now use that something to bargain with you. Miss Wills, we are no disinterested spectators. We are both of us, my friend and I, as deeply involved as you are — he because your sister came to him for help, and I because I knew O'Donnell. But if you refuse to put your cards on the table, I certainly see no reason why we should tell you the contents of your sister's letter."

Reunion.

"Letter!" she cried. "What letter?"

"The letter she wrote to Lumsden here, shortly before her death, but which he only received yesterday afternoon. There are some queer items of information in it. She speaks of something 'they' propose to do to a mysterious 'he' on a certain date; she begs Lumsden to warn this unknown 'he' and persuade him to go back home." He broke off, eyeing her keenly. "Does that date interest you, Miss Wills, and the other details that I haven't mentioned?"

She stared up at him, wide-eyed, piteous. "I can't fight any longer," she said wildly. "I must see that letter. I'll tell you everything."

"But not just yet," I put in quickly. From where I sat, I faced the promenade, and at that moment I had seen, threading its way through the pine boles towards us, a squat, podgy figure in white trousers and lavender shirt. "Baron Stahl's on the way to break up the party."

She caught her breath at that, but before she had time to speak, the fat man stood beside our table, a most unpleasant smile creasing his swarthy face. "Miss Wills!" he said, and bowed jerkily. "I am so happy that I find you! Your uncle, he is so disturbed! He look everywhere for you—he not find you nowhere, he ask everyone in the hotel. You come back with me now—no?"

Hugo turned slowly and faced the other.

"Baron," he said softly, "you arrive in the nick of time. Miss Wills has just accepted an invitation to have tea with my sister at our villa in Cannes, and we were debating how to let her uncle know her whereabouts. If you will give him a message we shall be most grateful."

Ottilie Wills was very silent as I drove her back to Cannes in her long, white roadster. Hugo kept the Hispano a comfortable twenty yards ahead of us, and from time to time I saw her eyes resting on the back of his head with a curious, reflective scrutiny.

"I asked you to take me along," she confided, "because I don't dare to be alone at the moment— Besides, I find that friend of yours a trifle terrifying. He's brilliant, of course, and terribly good-looking, but there's something relentless about him. When we're talking, I feel that I've got to be fighting the whole time to hold my own."

I, too, had the feeling that between her and Hugo a spiritual battle was imminent, the clash of two dominating personalities.

The gates of the Chalet stood open. As we crossed the hall the sound of voices drifted from the living-room and my heart sank, for that reasonant bass could come from only one larynx that I knew, and I did not fancy that Hugo was at all in the mod for another encounter with Mr. Dunning.

Sure enough, as I opened the door, the gentleman himself came into view, reclining as before in Hugo's favorite chair, with Ada, primly upright on her tabouret, beside him.

"Well, Mr. Stern," he drawled, in his big, booming voice, "the wanderer has returned as you see."

He broke off, staring, and in that moment there was a sudden movement beside me.

"Cuthbert!" cried Ottilie Wills. "Cuthbert, have you heard what they've done to her?" and in a flash she was across the room and had thrown herself into his arms, sobbing as if her heart would break.

TVA Probe Chairman Finds No Bad Faith

Committee Closes Its Seven Weeks' Investigation At Knoxville

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 3—(AP)—Its seven-weeks inquiry here closed, the TVA congressional investigating committee today was recessed subject to call, with its chairman, Senator Vic Donahey (D-Ohio), leaving behind the word that he could "charge no bad faith either to the authority or to the committee."

Prospects were, said Donahey, that the group would be reconvened within the next two months at Washington to hear the report of auditors and examine the agency's power program.

Before leaving for Washington, the chairman declared:

"The TVA has willingly brought us everything asked for—I can charge no bad faith either to the authority or to this committee. For myself, I would say no organization spending such sums as have been spent could fail to make some mistakes. I am surprised that no more have been discovered."

Golden Wedding

NEBRASKA DEATHS

DR. JAMES R. TAYLOR

SIDNEY—(AP)—Funeral services will be held here Monday afternoon for Dr. James R. Taylor, 58, who died Thursday night of a heart ailment. He has been ill two days. Dr. Taylor was a prominent western Nebraska surgeon and founded a hospital here in 1920. The widow and two daughters, Harriet and Annie, survive.

MRS. C. W. DERBY.

SCOTTSBLUFF—(AP) — Mrs. C. W. Derby, 80, a resident of Mitchell since 1911, died last night at a hospital here after eight months' illness. Funeral services will be held at Mitchell tomorrow and burial will be at Bellwood. Surviving are a son and two daughters, including Mrs. Harry Ayres, Lincoln.

ELBERT L. BEATTY.

(Special to The Star.)

CRAB ORCHARD—Elbert L. Beatty, 66, old resident of this place and a bachelor, died at the hospital in Tecumseh, Wednesday. He is survived by four sisters and three brothers. Funeral services were held at the United Brethren church here today, and burial was in Crab Orchard cemetery.

J. H. LYON.

KEARNEY—(AP)—The body of J. H. Lyon, 91, early Kearney resident and Civil war veteran who died this week at a veterans' hospital in Sawtelle, Calif., arrived here Saturday for burial. Lyon came to Kearney in 1887, and lived here until five years ago, when he moved to the west coast.

Lt. Bennett Lauds Canadian Record Of Motor Safety

Lieutenant Richard Bennett, in charge of the Lincoln police traffic division, returned to his desk Saturday from the International Association of Chiefs of Police convention in Toronto, Can., where last Wednesday he delivered a speech on "A Program for Accident Prevention."

In Canada, he said, the penalty for drunken driving is impounding of the car, so that the state is assured the driver will not be on the road. In extreme cases, he added, the car may be confiscated.

Canadian motorists are courteous to each other and to pedestrians, the lieutenant observed. "There seems to be an inborn respect for law and especially traffic laws," he said. In general, there is a noticeable lack of all crime in Toronto.

Comparing the Toronto traffic record with that of United States cities, he stated that there were under 40 persons killed in Toronto auto accidents this year. Toronto has 800,000 people. "No American city that size can match that record," he explained.

Lieutenant Bennett was a guest at the Canadian International Expsition in Toronto.

Attends Funeral

(Special to The Star.)

ODELL, Neb., Sept. 3—Mrs. Anna Kasparek of Odell has returned from Washington, D. C., where she attended the funeral of her son, Lieut. Odell Teacher

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Sept. 3—Miss Dorothy Bridges has been elected a teacher in the Odell schools for the coming year. She is a daughter of Dexter Bridges of Beatrice, and had three years work in the University of Nebraska.

Seek Organization Rural Fire District

GOTHENBURG, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—Gothenburg volunteers solicited farm residents in this area for memberships in a proposed rural fire fighting district. Solicitors last spring visited more than 200 farmers within twelve miles of Gothenburg, who tentatively agreed to buy memberships at $7.50 to $10 each. Money raised will be used to buy a truck chassis, equipped with fire fighting apparatus designed especially for use in rural areas.

BURCHARD SCHOOLS OPEN IN CHURCHES

(Special to The Star.)

BURCHARD, Neb., Sept. 3—Although minus a school building due to the disastrous fire last April the Burchard school will open as usual. The grades will be housed in the M. E. church and the high school will be housed in the U. P. church. A good enrollment is expected. The school hopes to get into the new modern structure before the close of the present school year. The faculty selected is: Spencer M. Leger, superintendent; Floyd I. Think Missing Lincoln Girl Is In Chicago

Elmer E. Beals, former Lincoln detective, said today that his step-daughter, Ella June Emerson, 16, missing since March 5, had passed through Chicago and called a friend there but that he did not at present know her whereabouts. He said that Mrs. L. A. Bowers, Phoenix, Ariz., sister of the missing girl, is in Chicago aiding the hunt.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By Prof. J. D. Flint

The role we assume today is really fun. We are deep south planters and we own a large plantation. The wide veranda is shaded from the hot sun, fans are cooling us and the mint juleps feel frosty in our hands. Oh! Boy!

Unfortunately we have a problem on hand to settle with regard to selling a small piece of land. We have a section 900 feet on a side. It is square and we are planning on selling four corner lots, 300 feet on a side. The 900 foot square is fenced and we want to keep our remaining property fenced after the transaction. How much more fence will we need?

Answer To Yesterday's Twizzler.

Measles Ahead

Dr. Bartholomew Looks For Increase When School Opens

Principal diseases in Nebraska decreased during August but Dr. P. H. Bartholomew, staate director of health, said he looks for an increase in measles cases after the opening of school.

"This is a measles year," he explained. So far in 1938 there have been 2,521 cases compared with 436 during all of last year. The disease runs in cycles. Chicken-pox and smallpox cases this year, too, are running ahead of last year but not by such a large margin.

Comparison of new cases during August and July of this year and the total cases for the first eight months this year:

	Aug.	July	Total to date
Chicken-pox	3	17	1,219
Diphtheria	4	2	103
Influenza	5	0	134
Measles	17	71	2,521
Meningitis C. S.	0	2	35
Poliomyelitis	3	1	6
Scarlet fever	11	14	992
Smallpox	5	6	177
Tuberculosis	15	19	141
Typhoid fever	2	1	10
Whooping cough	54	53	390

Weidler Reception

C. F. Dienst, deputy state superintendent, stated today that the superintendent's office will accept an invitation to have a representative present at a public reception to be tendered to D. E. Weidler, the newly elected president of York college at York on the evening of September 6. State Supt. Charles Taylor is out of the city but is expected to return before that date and if so he will attend, Dienst said. Otherwise some other member of the superintendent's staff will be there.

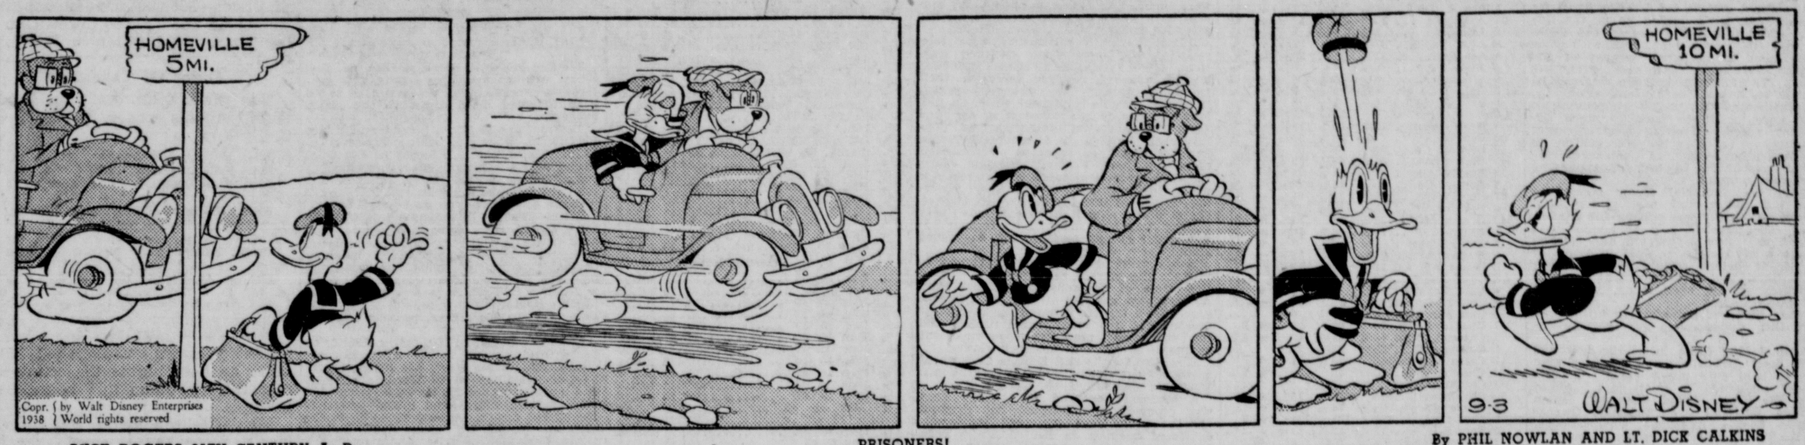

ESTATE FILINGS

A petition has been filed in County court asking the appointment of John Kahler of Lincoln as administrator of the estate of his mother, Lena Maser, who died Aug. 28. Two other sons, Henry and Fred Kahler, are other heirs.

Stocks Extend Advance By Fractions To Point Or More

Leading Issues Get Mild Support

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—Europe's war scare attracted less apprehension in Wall street today and the stock market extended its Friday advance by fractions to a point or more.

The proceedings were typically pre-holiday, however. Transfers for the two hours approximated 400,000 shares.

The domestic business picture maintained its moderately bright aspects and, more than anything else, inspired the mild support that enabled the majority of stock leaders to flourish plus signs at the close.

Most traders gave boardrooms a wide berth as they got an early jump on the Labor day recess which will keep the stock exchange idle until next Tuesday.

Those who put in appearance, while leaning to the buying side on the theory additional economy betterment is probable over the remainder of the year, barring an outbreak of international hostilities, still were inclined to keep commitments to modest proportions. Potential sellers were equally timid.

Steels and motors acted rather tired for a while, but most pushed up at the finish. Steel mills operations in the Pittsburgh district next week, even with some curtailment of activities because of the holiday, were expected to step up another notch. The automotive group retained its friends on hopeful output and sales.

Notwithstanding traffic improvement, rails were unable to work up much advancing speed. Growing electric power consumption failed to buoy the utilities to any noticeable extent. A number of specialties responded to talk of expanding consumer demand.

While the financial sector seemed to have lost the greater part of its fears, Europe apparently was still on the anxious seat. The price of gold at London was buoyed to a new 3-year top and sterling fell to a ne wlow since 1935 in terms of the dollar before getting some support. Amsterdam, the only prominent overseas securities market open today, was quiet and fairly steady.

Bonds flattened out after an initial forward tilt. Commodities were slightly uneven.

Profit taking came in at the last and U. S. Steel Bethlehem and Chrysler were able to hold only minor gains. General Motors registered a small loss. Ahead were Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, National Cash Register, Owens-Illinois, Loew's, Anaconda, Phelps-Dodge, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Electric Autolite, Briggs Mfg., Borg-Warner, Santa Fe and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Oils were favored in the curb market, with such issues as Humble, Gulf, International Petroleum and Sunray up fractions to more than a point. Modest gainers elsewhere included Electric Bond & Share, New Jersey Zinc, Niles-Bement-Pond and Northern States Power "A."

Foreign Exchange

Demand for gold and the dollar, which had temporarily subsided Friday, increased as jump money centers tried to sift through the mass of rumors concerning the outcome of German Chancellor Hitler's conversations with his lieutenants and their effect on the sudeten promleb in Czechoslovakia.

Other currencies—notably the French franc—dropped in sympathy with the renewed drive on the pound, many touching new lows for the year or more. The franc declined .00⅜ of a cent, the guilder .04 of a cent, the Swiss franc .02 of a cent and the belga, which has held comparatively stable in the recent downward shift .00½ of a cent.

Wheat Close At Chicago Uneven

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—(AP)—In a pre-holiday market wheat held firm today with prices moving within a narrow range.

Some buying against lifting of hedges against sales of wheat to the government for export was believed to have been executed, but the amount was small. Speculative interest was exceptionally small, and some selling was credited to Winnipeg interests.

Corn prices dipped at the outset after which the market displayed a steadier undertone. Demand for the grain, however, was light.

At the close, wheat was ¼ cent down to ¼ cent up, compared with yesterday's finish, September 62⅜@½c; December, 64⅛@¼c March 65½c, May 65¾@⅛c. Corn was ⅛ to ½ cent off, September 50¼c; December 48½@⅝c March 49¾c, May 50¼@⅜c.

After on opening spurt lifted wheat values fractons today, interest subsided and prices moved within a narrow range.

The market was featureless and traders were inclined to expect a pre-holiday session with evening up of accounts for the extended holiday.

Initial buying requirements were soon satisfied and the market declined fractions below yesterday's close. Renewed buying, however, restored values to their fractional gains. The stronger opening here was despite Liverpool close at new lows for the fourth consecutive day and general weakness in foreign markets. The Liverpool close, ⅜ to 1 cent lower, was, however, about as expected on the basis of action here Friday. Foreign cables reported a total absence of interest for wheat for future shipment. Short covering on the decline in the English market, ahead of the North American Labor day holiday was also reported by foreign advices. All foreign markets will be opened Monday.

While government buying continued to support the market some traders believed the effect of the subsidized export sales in the world markets offsets the influence here. Most traders believed the market at present had too many uncertainties, and that the market must get more consistent buying if prices were not to go lower.

The Minneapolis and Kansas City wheat markets were unchanged to ⅛ cent off. Winnipeg was off ⅛ to ¼ cent.

A moderate demand for nearby corn was reported by Liverpool but demand for the grain here remained indiferent. Scattered business in United States corn for export was reported. Prices were held near the lows which fere fractions below yesterday's close.

Oats and rye were about steady, and provisions also held steady.

Around mid-session, wheat was ¼ cent up to ½ cent down compared with yesterday's finish, September 62⅜c, December 64¼c and corn was ¼ to ½ cent off, September 50¼c, December 48⅝c.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—With few exceptions price changes in the bond market were small today with fractional gainers outnumbering minor losers by a narrow margin.

A half-dozen or so issues of Baltimore & Ohio Railroad were actively turned over in the first hour following official filing of the road of a voluntary plan for financial readjustment, but the trend was indecisive. The 5s or 1948 and the convertible 4½s of 1960, both specifically affected by the plan, were a shade lower. The series "D" 5s of 2,000 gained a fraction and the 4s of 1948 were a trifle higher.

Other rail loans followed the general market patern. Fractional gainers included Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Rock Island 4s, Erie 5s and New York Central 5s. Unchanged to lower were Missouri Pacific 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s and Maine Central 4½s of 1960.

New York dock 5s bounded up 5 points on light demand and smaller gains were posted on International Mercantile Marine 6s, Lehigh Valley Coal 5s and Western Union 5s.

Foreign dollar bonds did little either way in most cases. Panama 5s were up more than 2 points and Cuban 5½s were around 1½ improved. There was no interest in Central European obligations.

U. S. governments were in the background 1-32 of a point lower to 3-32 higher.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—(AP)—B. W. Snow, crop expert, said a heavy increase in acreage seeded with hybrid corn, particularly in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Ohio, served to maintain a moderately high yield promise in spite of distinctly unfavorable growth conditions during August. Early planted corn is ripening rapidly but there is a large acreage of late fields and further shrinkage may be expected.

Snow said a large volume of low quality winter wheat plus price dissatisfaction suggests a marked increase in feeding of wheat to livestock, particularly in Kansas and Nebraska, where corn is a failure over large areas.

Australia was reported to be considering a wheat pooling arrangement among farmers and Argentina also may resort to some form of subsidy to compete with other exporters. The trade had a report that the international wheat advisory committee would meet this fall in an effort to bring the nations into agreement on production and market.

Injunction Suit At York Is Dismissed

YORK, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—District Judge Landis denied today the injunction request of Wilbur G. Liggett against the city of York and dismissed his case challenging the city's contract with Robert Fulton, Lincoln engineer. Liggett sued soon after a special election last spring authorized the city council to acquire, either by purchase or construction, a municipal power plant. He contended Fulton's employment violated the voters' mandate. Landis' order approved the city's modified contract.

Laurel Votes Bonds

LAUREL, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—Laurel voters Friday approved 211 to 61 a $5,000 bond issue for construction of a recreation center and swimming pool. Village officials said the project will cost approximately $25,000 and either PWA or WPA aid will be sought.

Bendix Cup Racers Speeding Eastward

George Armistead of Los Angeles to quit the race at Winslow, Ariz.

Miss Cochran Passes St. Louis.

Miss Cochran flew over St. Louis at 11:38 a. m., 6 hours and 25 minutes after her takeoff from Burbank.

Fuller landed his Seversky plane, almost identical to Miss Cochran's, at Wichita, Kas., at 11:21 a. m., C. S. T. He took off 19 minutes later after refueling. He was 5 hours and 30 minutes out of Burbank when he left Wichita.

The fliers were seeking $30,000 in prizes—$20,000 for the hop to Cleveland and $10,000 for continuing on the 404 miles to Bendix, N. J.

Order Of Takeoff.

Ross Hadley, Los Angeles, 3:47 a. m.
Max Constant, New York, 4:37 a. m.
Jacqueline Cochran, New York, 5:13 a. m.
John Hinchey and Charles Lajotte, Los Angeles, 5:19 a. m.
A. Paul Mantz, Los Angeles, 5:25 a. m.
Frank Fuller, San Francisco, 6:10 a. m.
George Armistead, Los Angeles, 6:35 a. m.
Lee Gehlbach, New York, 7:08 a. m.
Robert Perlick, Los Angeles, 7:15 a. m.
Frank Cordova, New York, 7:43 a. m.

Last year Fuller averaged 255 miles an hour across the country, reaching Cleveland in 7 hours, 54 minutes.

Miss Cochran, who was third last year on the Burbank-Cleveland leg, passed over Amarillo, Tex., at 9:30 a. m. She radioed she was having fuel line trouble.

A half hour later Fuller flew over Amarillo—933 miles from Burbank—at 19,500 feet. He reported all well.

Hinchey's plane was reported by the department of commerce to have flown over Otto, N. M., approximately 690 miles from Burbank, at 9:04 a. m.

Hadley Leaves Wichita.

Hadley took off from Wichita, Kas., at 10:40 a. m., after nine minutes spent in refueling. He had averaged only 210 miles an hour from Burbank.

Mantz, former technical adviser to Amelia Earhart, also landed at Wichita, refueling seven minutes and heading east again at 11:22 a. m.

Hinchey sped away from Amarillo at 11:18 a. m., after a 23-minute stop.

Miss Cochran flew over St. Louis—1,585 miles from the start—at 16,000 feet, the airport there reported at 11:38 a. m.

Fuller took on 299 gallons of fuel before leaving Wichita at 11:40 a. m.

The San Francisco sportsman was over Kansas City—700 miles from his goal and 1,342 miles from Burbank — at 12:15 p. m. He was averaging just over 220 miles an hour, counting his delay at Wichita.

Miss Cochran had covered approximately 2,170 miles at 12:30 p. m., when she called the Indianapolis airport by radio. The young cosmetic manufacturer was continuing at 16,000 feet.

G-Men Quit West Coast Kidnap Case

details of how to pay the ransom.

Sheriff Bert Ullrey, who again assumed full charge of the hunt expressed fear for the life of Mrs. Meeks, who he said was in the hands of desperate men.

"We are hoping that our search does not yield the body of Mrs. Meeks," he said, "but there is a possibility that it may."

Meeks, who said he could not raise $15,000 even if he sold his ranch and all his other possessions, was quoted by Sheriff Ullrey as saying the two men accosted him and his wife about midnight Thursday, shortly after the departure of some guests.

House Ransacked.

One man was armed, Meeks related, and the pair bound the couple, ransacked the house, then carried Mrs. Meeks outside and departed with her in the rancher's automobile, which was found abandoned in Marysville, 12 miles away, several hours later.

"Unless you pay $15,000 by midnight Saturday you'll never see your wife again," Meeks said one of the abductors told him.

"We'll contact you in a couple of days for that $15,000."

Meeks described the men as speaking with an "Oklahoma accent," which Sheriff Ullrey said might indicate they were here for the fruit harvest along with hundreds of other migrants from dust bowl areas.

Police Called In To Tame Wild Rassler

CHICAGO, Sept. 3— (INS) — Pat Murphy, "nasty man" among local wrestlers, outdid himself last night in his bout against George Mack. Murphy made so many fierce faces and emitted such terrifying growls that the crowd at Cicero stadium rushed him, hoping to prevent the murder of poor Mack.

Pat was in such a state he flattened several paying customers and wasn't quieted until the gendarmes arrived with their soothing little batons. When the birdies stopped cooing in Pat's head, the browl was over.

JACOBS DATES FIGHT FOR BARLUND, PASTOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(INS)—Gunnar Barlund and Bob Pastor will meet in the center of Madison Square Garden ring come Oct 3, the winner to have the dubious honor of trading wallops with Champion Joe Louis at some future date, according to an announcement today by Promoter Mike Jacobs.

State Fair Grounds Hum With Activity

from England by Mrs. J. S. Wishart of Lincoln. A special cage will be provided for the entry as Staffordshires are pit dogs from way back and might make short work of Young Case's "Brownie."

4-H Judging Begins.

Over in the 4-H building, where some 800 farm boys and girls are competing for club honors, judging was under way Saturday and some preliminary awards were made.

Club showings of dairy cattle, heifers and sheep this year will be larger than last, but there are not as many entries in the baby-beef competition. The exhibitor of last year's prize-winning baby beef, Wallace Fausch, Webster county boy, was grooming his 1938 calf and his brother, Kenneth, who had the winner in 1935, is showing this year, too.

Style Revue.

Of prime interest to 4-H club girls is the style revue scheduled for Sept. 7. Miss Allegra Wilkens agriculture college extension worker in charge of the event, said a record number of girls will take part this year.

To the winner goes a gold medal and if she's more than 15 years old, she will represent Nebraska at the national 4-H club congress in Chicago next December. Economy as well as style is considered in the judging.

The state fair board's ground concession business is on the upgrade. Before noon Saturday, J. M. Calder, concession manager, said more than 200 permits had been issued. With the fair in full swing last year concessions numbered 277.

County Competition.

Lancaster county's 4-H club baking competition was judged Saturday morning and a 12-year-old boy, Eldon Roeder of Bennet, walked off with first honors in the nut-bread division. Last year he won with cookies. His entry, along with the other county prize winners, will be judged in the state-wide competition.

The county winners:

Junior division (age 10 to 15)—Muffins, Rose Ann Moon; drop cookies; Lois Borgman; sugar cookies, Virginia Haack; spice cup cakes, Lois Borgman; white bread, Doris Retzlaff; whole wheat, Jean Thiesen white rolls, Virginia Haacks; nut bread, Elden Roeder.

Senior division (age 15 to 21)—Muffins, Gertrude Pittman; sugar cookies, Mae Leavitt; white bread and rolls, Winifred Daft; nut bread, Merna Maahs, angel food cake, Mae Leavitt; ellow sponge cake Verna Retlaff.

New Auburn School Complete In Month

AUBURN, Neb., Sept. 3—(AP)—The $133,275 senior high school building under construction here is expected to be completed sometime about October 1. The school board has deemed it inadvisable to wait for the completion of the new building to start the fall term. therefore the Auburn schools will open September 5.

With occupation of the new building the extremely congested condition of the Auburn schools which has existed for a number of years will be relieved. The new building will accommodate 250 students, leaving the present high school building for a junior high school, relieving grade schools of about 140 pupils.

Western Youths Even Junior Legion Series

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Sept. 3 — (INS) — Spartanburg and San Diego, Cal., were all square today as they faced each other in the fourth game of the American Legion junior "world series."

San Diego evened the count by taking the third game of the series, 7 to 4. Spartanburg annexed the second game, while the two teams fought to an 8-8 tie in the opener.

Yesterday's Stars

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Hit homer, double and single, driving in four runs in 6-4 win over Red Sox.

Don Gutteridge, Cardinals—His homer, triple and single sent five runs across in 11-10 victory over Pirates.

Al Simmons, Senators—Sent two runs in with homer and triple to beat Athletics, 4-2.

EIGHT ARE DROWNED IN GERMAN FLOODS

BAESLAU, Germany, Sept. 3—(AP)—Eight persons were reported drowned today in what were described as the worst floods in history along the Oder and Neisse rivers.

Heavy rains in Silesia sent turbulent waters tumbling down mountain brooks and causing many houses to collapse at Glatz, close to the border of Czechoslovakia.

Many smaller towns and villages were isolated by high water.

Nebraska NYA Heads Confer On Problems

35 Attend Session; Dr. Boucher Makes First Appearance As Chancellor

Nebraska National Youth Administration leaders met Saturday morning in their annual conference at the student union building of the University of Nebraska for a discussion of problems and accomplishments. Miss Gladys Shamp, state director, presided over the meeting attended by 35 leaders. Displays and models of work accomplished were on display.

Making his first appearance as chancellor of the University of Nebraska, Dr. C. S. Boucher welcomed the Nebraska representatives. Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs at the university, led discussion on methods of selecting students. A discussion of some office practices in administering the program was led by E. Glenn Callen of Nebraska Wesleyan.

Dean C. L. Parker of Kearney state teachers college presided at a general discussion of college aid project programs, in which reports were given by President Byron S. Stoffer of Doane, President W. R. Pate of Peru state teachers college, E. J. Boschult of the University of Nebraska, D. P. Jones of Hastings college, and David A. Shyne, S. J., of Creighton university.

Herman F. Weigel, state supervisor of NYA student aid, led a roundtable discussion of NYA college aid project plans for the coming school year. Reports were given by P. V. Hansen of Dana college, K. N. Parke of Wayne state teachers college, and Dean E. A. Holt of Omaha university.

After luncheon those attending entered into a discussion on "What do NYA students think and say about the program?"

Leonard Family May Be Moved Back To Cass County Soon

Mrs. Ruth Bishop, Lancaster county relief director, is awaiting a letter from Cass county authorities authorizing moving the eight-member family of C. C. Leonard back to that county.

The Leonards have lived in both counties in recent years, coming to Lancaster county in March. On Thursday they staged a "sit down" strike at relief quarters, seeking assistance. They were offered help at the City Mission, but Mrs. Bishop said she understood they were staying with a relative of Mrs. Leonard.

Mrs. Bishop said that arrangements were made with Cass authorities by telephone Friday afternoon, and that the letter of authorization is all that is needed to take care of the matter.

75 Candidates Notified To File Statement Of Expenses In Primary

Donald Devries, deputy secretary of state, said Saturday that so far 75 candidates nominated at the recent primaries for various offices have failed to file their campaign expense accounts.

Their certificates of nomination will not be mailed to them until the expense statements are filed, nor will their names be printed on the general election ballot, he said. The law requires that such statements be filed within ten days after the election. Devries has notified delinquent candidates, however, that election certificates will be mailed upon receipt of the statements.

Candidates who were nominated, but have failed to file statements are: Frank M. Johnson, Lexington, for regent of the university; nine following candidates for the legislature, F. A. Uttecht, Norfolk; Clyde R. Worrall, Wahoo; Frank S. Wells, Fairbury; Claire Owens, Exeter; W. H. Diers, Gresham; Ray Thomas, Clay Center; John Washington Porter, Albion; A. C. Van Diest, Almeria, and David E. Walker, Mullen.

The other delinquents are 65 candidates for director of rural electrification districts.

PIONEERS CLUB HOUSE DEDICATION SEPT. 11

Dedication of the new golf club house at Pioneers park has been fixed for Sunday, Sept. 11. As part of the program there will be a nine-hole tournament, with the dedication exercises beginning at noon. In addition to the tourney there will be other golf events, prizes being awarded the winners. In charge of arrangements is the Pioneers Golf club, of which L. S. Crain is president.

State Treasury Balance In August Under July

State Treasurer Walter H. Jensen reported Saturday on treasury transactions for August. The statement shows the state's total resources, including trust funds, on hand the last of August to be $19,035,349.50, compared with $19,888,682.57 at the close of July, or a reduction of $753,333.07. The reduction is wholly in the state and federal road fund items due contractors.

To Attend Premiere

Governor Cochran said Saturday that he and his family will attend the premiere of Boys' Town," film based on Father Flanagan's boys home, to be held in Omaha Wednesday night. Governor Cochran has sent an invitation to the governors of all states adjoining Nebraska to attend the initial showing of the picture. The governors invited are: Nels G. Kraschel of Iowa; Governor Jensen of South Dakota; Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri; Leslie A. Miller of Wyoming; Teller Ammons of Colorado and Walter Huxman of Kansas.

Higher Corn Loans In 5 Nebraska Counties

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—The agricultural adjustment administration announced today it had extended to farmers in 59 counties outside the commercial corn belt the privilege of renewing their 1937 corn loans, made at the rate of 50 cents a bushel, at the new 1938 rate of 57 cents. Previously, the privilege had been granted only to farmers in the midwestern region defined as the commercial corn area. Farmers applying for the high loan must show that their 1938 acreage planted to soil-depleting crops did not exceed 102 per cent of their soil-depleting crop acreage allotment. The Nebraska counties affected are Chase, Holt, Keith, Lincoln and Wheeler.

"BOOST NIGHT" AT LANDIS YARD

SHADOW BOXING by Jack Hurley

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—Mike Jacobs is having difficulties arranging a heavyweight elimination tournament because the general belief is that Max Baer has already been awarded the championship match with Joe Louis for next year . . . There must be something to it, because Jacobs is unable to guarantee the winner of his proposed tournament a title match . . . The Tommy Farr-Maurice Strickland match is definitely off, Manager Joe Gould claiming that his fighter (Farr) is being made a stooge for the Jim Norris owned New Zealander (Strickland), and the Finnish house-fighter (Gunnar Barlund).

JACK HURLEY

IT WILL be a physical impossibility for Tony Galento to go through with his scheduled match with John Henry Lewis at Atlantic City, Feb. 22 . . . In fact, Two-Ton Tony's condition is such that he may never box again . . . The latest New York report is that Jimmy Johnston and Damon Runyon will team up in the promotion of boxing (in opposition to Mike Jacobs) at the New York coliseum . . . Boxing is no longer considered a "minor sport" by Garden officials—not since they cut in with Mike Jacobs, at least.

JOE LOUIS' "Brown Bombers" softball team played to less than 1,000 spectators in Philadelphia last week . . . When the "Bombers" played Philadelphia last year, no less than 20,000 fans saw them perform . . . This is a startling and significant falling off in patronage when it is considered that interest in softball has increased considerably over last year . . . It appears that the public has lost interest in the heavyweight champion, and will remain indifferent until some worthy challenger appears upon the fistic horizon.

BECAUSE the Pittsburgh Pirates appear to be almost certain winners of the National league pennant, Forbes Field, their home grounds, is not available for the proposed John Henry Lewis-Al Gainor light heavy-weight championship match . . . The New York commission has ruled against overweight matches between champions and leading contenders . . . This erases any possibility of the contemplated Al Hostak-Fred Apostoli non-championship affair.

JACK SHARKEY, former heavyweight champion, lost a decision to a truck a week ago . . . Sharkey was injured, although the bumper of his car was sheared off . . . Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, refereed a bout at Washington, D. C., last Tuesday . . . Jim Braddock, another former heavyweight champion, handled the Nathan Mann-Eddie Blunt affair at New Haven, Wednesday . . Joe Louis has made application to join the Detroit police department.

JIM NORRIS, JR., advises that Nate Lewis will act as matchmaker for the Chicago stadium, and Jack Kearns in the same capacity at the Detroit Olympia, for whatever shows Mike Jacobs sees fit to put in these arenas . . . Matt Raymond, Tommy Loughran's heavyweight protege, will have a place on the Lewis-Adamick show at Philadelphia, Sept. 12 . . . Barney Ross definitely starts work for his papa-in-law Sept. 15 . . . Walt Disney is playing with the idea of turning out a fight cartoon screen presentation, featuring Mickey Mouse and Tony Galento.

AT A recent meeting of the Illinois boxing commission, James R. Fitzpatrick, a commission member, and Frank Mastro, Chicago Tribune boxing writer, nearly came to blows over an article written by the latter . . . Izzy Kline, trainer of Max and Buddy Baer, will act as matchmaker for a westside club this winter . . . Tommy Farr may soon be heard on a series of coast-to-coast radio programs in the role of a crooner . . . Lou Ambers, the lightweight champion, had every physical advantage over Henry Armstrong, the welterweight king.

CEFERINO GARCIA drove from Los Angeles to New York in three and a half days in order to be on time for the Armstrong-Ambers fight—only to have the show rained out and postponed for a week . . . Facing a certain loss on Ambers-Armstrong in the open air, Mike Jacobs moved it into the Garden and realized a $14,000 profit . . . Jimmy Braddock and Benny Leonard are getting plenty of refereeing assignments.

FRANKIE GENOVESE and Sammy Luftspring, both Canadians, fight for the Canadian welterweight championship at Trenton, N. J., Sept. 12 . . . And on the same night, Fritzie Zivic faces Bobby Pacho at Newark, N. J. . . . Scotty Montieth, former manager of Johnny Dundee, and at present a deputy United States marshal in Michigan, is recuperating from a general breakdown in health . . . Stanislaus Zzyszko, former heavyweight wrestling champion, has imported a middleweight boxer from Poland who answers to the name of Stanislaus Chemielewski . . . Chris Dundee, New York fight manager, forces each of his fighters to buy at least one $37.50 federal bond from his purse for each bout.

Lincoln Fans Slated Flock to Ball Park In Appreciation of Boss Francis 'Pug' Griffin.

LINCOLN'S State league Links return home Saturday for the final three-game series of the season and a group of loyal Capital City baseball fans, with the backing of the Chamber of Commerce and American Legion, have designated Saturday as "Appreciation Night" for Boss "Pug" Griffin of the Links. Festivities start at 8 o'clock.

Special Low Admission.

A special price of a quarter a person has been established for the game and boosters hope for the largest crowd of the season as Lincoln goes against Sioux City, the second-half champions of the State league.

The American Legion bugle and drum corps will parade on O street and later present an exhibition drill at the ball yard. Members of the Lincoln Blues, state and regional junior baseball champions sponsored by the American Legion post, will be introduced to the crowd during the game.

A field day, with members of the Lincoln and Sioux City teams competing, will include a 100-yard dash, circling the bases, fungo hitting, accurate throwing and long distance throwing contests.

Friday Game Washed Out.

The Links were washed out of the final game with Beatrice Friday night, the Beatrice field being unfit for play. The Norfolk-Grand Island clash was called off and Sioux Falls took advantage of eight Sioux City errors to beat the second-half champs, 4-2.

The exhibition game between Woodmen, Lincoln City league champs, and the touring Piney Woods Collegians also was rained out. The score:

At Sioux Falls.

Sioux City	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	—2 6 3
Sioux Falls	2	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	x	—4 4 1

DeJarnett Moves Up.

Four members of the Lincoln Links will advance to higher-class baseball next season, and couple others likely will be moved higher in the chain of "farm" clubs operated by the St. Louis Browns, according to Saturday announcement by Boss "Pug" Griffin of the Links.

Marion DeJarnett, the speedy Lincoln ex-sandlotter and former Lincoln high athlete, has been purchased by the Browns and will report to a double-A team next spring. The Browns at present have no "farm" clubs in the double-A leagues (American Association, International and Pacific Coast leagues) but expect to obtain one before the 1939 season.

Promotion For Gregory.

Should the Browns not perfect a working arrangement with a AA team, DeJarnett will report to San Antonio in the Texas league, a class A "farm" of the Browns. Nick Gregory, outfielder from East St. Louis, Ill., will report to San Antonio.

Ted Kakoliris, here on option from Meridian, Miss., has been recalled and will be sent to Springfield in the Three-I loop. Mickey Kolesar, effective hight-hand pitcher whose contract already is owned by the Browns, will be moved up to Bartlesville in the Western Association.

Two others, Pete Radulovich and Howard Eaton, are the property of the Browns, but have received no notification of 1939 placement.

BRONX CHEERS FOR JOE NOW

Razzing Fans of Gotham Whoop It Up For Di Maggio.

By SID FEDER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—It's safe to walk the streets again around "Mulberry Bend" and "Little Italy." Joe DiMaggio's rolling.

Down in those sections of the East Side, they take their baseball seriously. And when DiMag wasn't doing so well, fathers went around snarling at bambinos and mothers kept their pots empty of the ravioli. When you went down that way, they looked at you with the evil eye, and if you mentioned baseball—well, you took the nearest exit.

That Bronx Razzberry.

Then the fans who turn out in the big Bronx ballyard to see the Yankees play, began to hand Joe their specialty—the Bronx cheer—In huge quantities. And that didn't sit at all well with Joe's "pisanos." They were all set to go into mass action against such unheard of conduct when Joe saved them the trouble.

JOE DI MAGGIO

He wheeled out his heavy artillery and let the hits fall where they may. And from the time he started to roll again, dates the march of the Yanks out of second place, into a 14-game lead in the American league and a spot where they've all but clinched their third straight championship.

On His Way Now.

In the 67 games that have constituted the Yankee landslide to their commanding position, Guiseppe—the people's choice in "Little Italy"—has been batting at a .350 clip, has scored 79 runs, driven in 86 and hit 44 extra base blows, 19 of them homers.

He clouted three-for-three yesterday, including homer No. 27 for the season, and drove in four runs in pacing the Yanks to a 6-4 win over the Boston Red Sox, which made big Red Ruffing the first 20-game pitching winner of the year in the big leagues.

Joe's three hits boosted his batting average to .338 for the campaign, and right now he's in a spot where he may finish with the American league hitting championship if such pace-setters as Cecil Travis, Earl Averill and Jimmy Foxx don't stop fiddling around.

Cards Give Gas to Bucs.

The Yankee-Sox set-to was one of three games on yesterday's curtailed big league program. In the lone National league engagement, the pace-setting Pittsburgh Pirates spotted the St. Louis Cardinals 11 runs in three innings and then just missed overtaking them as the "Gas House Gangsters" pulled out an 11-10 decision. This left the Bucs with a 6½ game lead over the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, deadlocked in second place.

Al Simmons stole the show in Philadelphia by leading the senators to a 4-2 victory over the Athletics. The pounding Pole, who this season has set a new all-time high for a Washington homer hitter, clouted his twentieth of the campaign and chipped in a run-making triple to back up young Ken Chase's seven-hit flinging.

JOCK REFUTES QUITTING TALE

Coach Sutherland Spikes Yarn That He Plans Resign At Pitt.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3—(AP)—Coach Jock Sutherland, cleaning up loose ends today in preparation for the opening of Pitt football practice next Monday, answered persistent reports that he was planning to resign with an emphatic denial.

Sticks to His Job.

The coach has been currently rumored as giving the University of Pittsburgh the required two years' notice to go to Navy, Duke, Temple, Southern California or U. C. L. A.

"I absolutely have not given the university any notice of quitting, nor has the school served me with any such word," Dr. Sutherland said. "At various times, I have been approached concerning other coaching jobs, but always indirectly, never by anyone with authority to really proffer such positions. Any stories to the contrary are false."

International League.

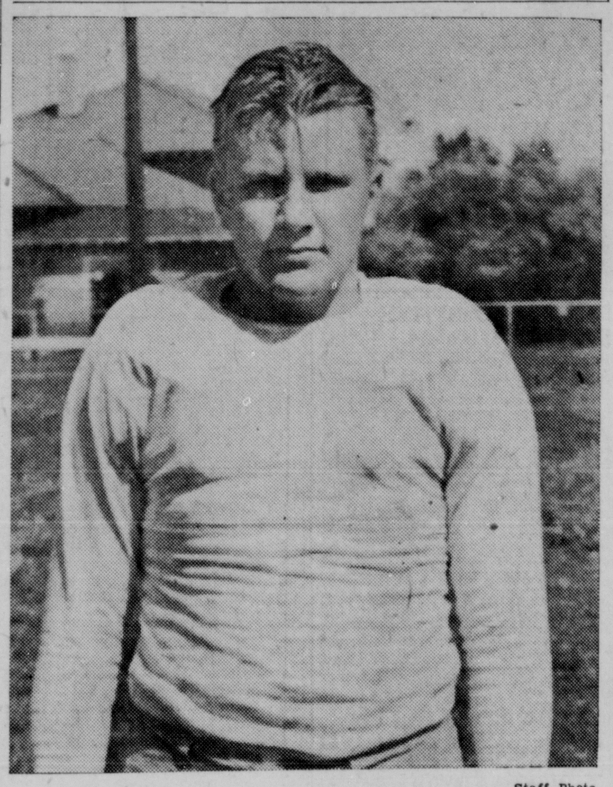

Newark, 13; Baltimore, 7.
Syracuse, 3-3; Jersey City, 2-2.

Softball Leaguers.

The scheduled Friday softball games were rained out and all Saturday games were cancelled Saturday morning, it was announced by Al Hawthorne, softball director.

NEW GRID HUSKY AT LINCOLN HI.

Staff Photo

Buddy King (above), 15-year-old Lincoln high sophomore halfback, last year earned state-wide recognition while playing under Francis Ayres, former Lincoln high and Nebraska university athlete, at Riverton, Wyo., high school.

King's parents moved to Lincoln during the summer. Standing about six feet and weighing 185 pounds, Buddy will be making a strenuous bid for a first-team backfield spot as soon as he becomes acquainted with Coach Ralph Beechner's style of play.

Over The State.

BY ALEX STODDARD.

THE Wahoo high school coaching problem has been solved . . . Sudden resignation of Don Wilson, then the failure of Howard Hook to obtain his release from a contract at Elkhorn high, had complicated matters . . . The Wahoo school board announced, however, that Wayne Riggs has contracted to coach and teach mathematics during the 1938-39 season . . Riggs coached the past two seasons at Burwell high.

FOUR players of the Norfolk State league team will go higher in the New York Yankee chain next year . . . Johnny Orr, Kenny Jacobsen and Ned Tighe will go to Akron, O., in the Mid-Atlantic league, and Johnny Kreevich, outfielder, brother of Mike Kreevich, Chicago White Sox gardener, moves to Joplin, Mo., in the Western Association . . . When Bill Essick was making the rounds as a Yankee scout recently, he passed along his opinion that Kreevich had the makings of a better ball player than Mike.

LEO SCHERER, one-time University of Nebraska end, stopped in Lincoln Friday night on the return trip to North Platte from Omaha . . . Scherer escorted six North Platte youngsters to the St. Louis Cardinal training camp in Omaha, two of the half-dozen staying until the last day by request of camp managers . . . All were too young to sign this year, however . . . Scherer now is recreation director at North Platte . . . Incidentally, the Cards plucked their third prospect from the school by signing Harry Stricklett, 18-year-old Omaha youth, ordering him to report to Grand Island next spring.

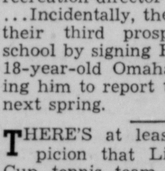

THERE'S at least a faint suspicion that Lincoln's Lawlor Cup tennis team will reach the state semi-finals Sunday with a victory over Plattsmouth . . . The quarter-final match with the Cass county team will be played at the Lincoln Tennis club and admission is free . . . Johnny Huston, state junior and high school champion, and Harold Rundle, state singles king, will team up to do the job for Lincoln . . . G. W. McGee of Norfolk was re-elected president of the Northeast Nebraska Horseshoe association . . . Hoskins, "Big Four" league champion, withdrew from the state amateur baseball tourney, starting Saturday at Fremont, and Fort Calhoun replaced Farmers Union of Omaha . . . Kearney Country club is sponsoring a two-day open golf tournament Sunday and Monday and 100 extra caddies have been hired . . . Competition is over 54 holes.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

At Dallas, Tex.—Chester Rudy, 141, New London, Conn., decisioned Irish Johnny Dean, 140, Philadelphia, 10 rounds.

At Hollywood, Calif.—Quentin (Babe) Breese, 138, Manhattan, Kas., and Georgie Hansford, 132, Los Angeles, drew in 10 rounds.

At Atlantic City, N. J.—Jesse Pierce, 163½, Philadelphia, stopped Johnny Rossi, 164½, Worcester, Mass., in fifth round.

At Mt. Freedom, N. J.—Tony De Santo, 142, Jersey City, knocked out Frank Mayo, 141, Philadelphia, in second round.

LINCOLN COACH CUTS HIS SQUAD

Beechner Prunes Roster Capital City Grid Candidates.

Busily engaged in the process of whipping together what promises to be one of Lincoln high's finest teams of a decade—if the green line measures up to par—Coach Ralph Beechner is driving a reduced squad of 35 candidates through a series of stiff sessions.

Retains Squad of 35.

Beechner sliced the squad to 35 following the Friday practice, turning over the players lopped from the squad to Coach John R. "Cy" Yordy for the reserve team.

RALPH BEECHNER.

The rotund Lincoln mentor sent two lineups through signal drill Friday, with the "A" group including Dean Jackson and Melvin Keszler, ends; Forrest Bachman and Bob Ogden, tackles; Eugene Irick and Melvin Johnson, guards; Joe Partington, center; Fred Metheny, Don Hansen, Bob Lebsack and Bill Jennings, backs. The "B" eleven listed Harvey Lauer and John Anderson, ends; Bob Williams and Elmer Kehn, tackles; Lester Buckley and Bill Page, guards; Willard Lobdell, center; Don Lovell, Henry Reichel, Dean Strawn and Buddy King, backs.

Final Choices Deferred.

The Lincoln coach, however, made it quite plain that these elevens were not to be taken as indicating a starting and replacement lineup. Several boys of the "B" group undoubtedly will be moved to the "A" eleven as the practice continues and Howard Debus, veteran fullback, will go into the top backfield when he reports.

In addition to the 23 players already mentioned, Beechner kept Russ Therien, Collins McMaster and George Maser, ends; Dale King, Don Bottorf and Charles Gordon, tackles; Fred Lorenz, Talmage Miller, Bob Metrakos and Nathan Worth, guards, and Curtis Knudson and John Fox, backs. Knudson and King transferred from Riverton, Wyo., and Russ Therien moved from Bethany.

Jockey Honors In Sack For Duncan

Jockey Willie Duncan virtually has the riding honors at the state fair race meeting all sewed up. The meeting is about half over and Duncan has had the leg up on 14 winners, while his closest rivals are H. Kees and W. Gonzales, each with four winning mounts. The standings:

	Rides	Won	Place	Show
W. Duncan	36	14	5	4
H. Kees	27	4	7	3
W. Gonzales	18	4	2	1

FAIR RACES ON DESPITE RAIN

Gallopers Defy The Mud In Friday's Events On Half-Mile Oval.

Gold Scorcher, given a nifty ride by Jockey T. Whatley, came from behind on the west curve, then passed Silver Banquet, the early pace-maker, to win by three lengths in the Sam Lawrence Hotel purse, the feature race on Friday's race program on the state fair oval.

Gold Scorcher returned the day's high pay-off of $13.80, it being a big day for the form players as the hay-burners splashed through a dripping rain and the steadily thickening goo. The track was good for the first race, slow for the second and heavy the remainder of the afternoon.

Jack Howe came through in the first with an easy victory over Color Bell, while LeKaronga, the heavily-backed favorite, racked up his first win of the meeting in the second heat. LeKaronga trailed the first four furlongs, then picked up ground fast and finished with yards to spare.

Airglide Finally Wins.

Silver San, another heavy favorite, drove home ahead of Carmi and Adulation in the fourth, after Gold Play had won the third, an allowance race for maidens and winners of one race.

Airglide, a disappointing performer thus far, found its sea legs and waded across a decisive winner in the sixth as Marion Barton came from behind to grab the place money. Both Airglide and Marion Barton sailed past Logan G. and Goldie Green, the two early leaders, in the last two furlongs. Westko, the people's choice, took the nigh cap as George K., virtually left at the post, finished well to the third behind Canter Hoof.

With the meeting about half over, only two horses, Clarice McClain and Benny B., have twice crossed the finish line in front in the 42 races run to date.

Saturday Entry List.

Saturday's program attracted the best field of entries of any day to date. Each of the seven races is over-crowded and the field in all heats must be reduced by scratches Saturday morning. The fifth, a handicap feature, includes Color Lifter, Moonset, Gay Blade, Little Coquina and Clatsop Chief, while the second, a five-furlong brush, lists, among others, Eastern River, Cloverport, Modern Lash, Keen Gleaming, Sun Ree and My Model.

Monday's Labor day program will include a $300 handicap, "The Labor Day," it being the race which annually offers the second highest money of the meeting, the winning horse getting $215. The Nebraska derby, $600 added, will be run off next Wednesday.

Riggs Booked Take On Australia's Ace In Opening Match of Davis Cup Series.

By LAWTON CARVER.

GERMANTOWN, Pa., Sept. 3—(INS)—Although a few tennis observers clung steadfastly to the notion that Australia has a chance, the majority today strung along with the American forces to crush the challengers and thus successfully defend the Davis cup in the five-match series starting this afternoon on more or less hallowed turf. In fact, a majority think that we shall win five straight.

Riggs First to Face Fire.

These optimistic habitues of the top layer of the upper crust of sportsdom gave the Australians just the barest kind of a chance to win a single match, despite the fact that we are depending on one young man who had better play as good a game as he talks. If he doesn't we still figure to win the necessary three, but after that he won't look so hot.

BOBBY RIGGS.

This one is youthful and reassuringly cocky Bobby Riggs, another of those athletes who persistently sprout and thrive along the California coast.

His Chance to Prove It.

Promptly at 2 p. m. (E. D. T.) this afternoon, young Mr. Riggs will begin to get his chance to back up with a flailing racquet the mouthings which all listeners have been subjected to since he was appointed to the team. At that hour, he will go out there against Adrian Quist in the first singles match. Hence, America's greenest cup player and Australia's most experienced will reopen the warfare which has been raging since 1900.

The second singles match, also this afternoon, will involve Don Budge, the world's No. 1 man at this business, and John Bromwich, the ambidextrous Aussie, who will be there strictly for the exercise if the encounter runs to form.

Doubles On Sunday

Doubles will be played Sunday, with Budge and Gene Mako against, probably, Quist and Bromwich, and on Monday the concluding singles will be run off. In these, Riggs and Budge will switch opponents, the former meeting Bromwich and Budge going against Quist.

Those few who care to make something out of it, point to the singles draw as extremely significant in figuring Australia's chances, inasmuch as Riggs is being called upon to open the battle and finish it. He goes on first today, but appears in the afterpiece Monday.

Thus in his first fling at international competition, everything finally may be riding on him. Should he lose his opener and Budge and Mako drop the doubles, Riggs would be carrying the Davis cup right on his shoulders in the final.

Budge World's Best.

As for Budge and his singles, they say he can't possibly miss, and therefore simply won't. He reputedly is the best man in the world today, with the records bearing it all out.

Moreover, they keep telling you that he wants to look good here and in the national singles beginning next week to enhance himself as a gate attraction for the professionals.
